THE ROAD FROM DEATH VALLEY TO PARADISE IS JUST 17 MILES LONG.

The first ever community where you'll find both a Jack Nicklaus Signature Golf Course (opened in 2002) and an Arnold Palmer Premier Golf Complex (construction set to begin in 2007).

Your odometer tells you its only 17 miles from Death Valley to your home at The Reserve. But your heart and soul tell you this perfect lakeside retreat is a million miles away. That's because, at The Reserve, we've created an extraordinary community with a spectacular array of on-site amenities for the entire family.

And while the pleasures of living — and playing — on the lake are endless, the opportunity is limited. Call us after the game to reserve your place in this one-of-a-kind year round retreat. And experience the charms of mountain lake living today.

Getting Here: Head north from Clemson on SC Hwy. 133 for approximately 17 miles. The entrance to The Reserve at Lake Keowee will be on your left.

Look no further. The perfect lake retreat is right next door.

Come See How it Lives.

There's no better way to experience The Reserve lifestyle, than living it. Our charming Guest House has private suites available for our sales guests. Ask for details when you call.

What's Inside

Will Proctor 6.7

Senior Spotlight

The signal-caller has one season to live out what he and his teammates hope is a dream season. Energetic, enthusiastic, and hard-working are but three of many adjectives that can be used to describe the patient Tiger. His energy resonates throughout the team, and he has become one of the team's main leaders.

Tim DeBeer 9

Senior Spotlight

The fifth-year senior offensive tackle will be playing in the first home game of his senior season in Death Valley today. Growing up in nearby Atlanta, GA has helped make Clemson feel like home to him and his parents, who have not missed a football game of his since he was in the seventh grade.

Cole Chason 12.13

Senior Spotlight

Always positive and possessing an unassuming attitude, he has been a favorite among his teammates. He has provided many laughs and will be missed when his career ends. However, he still has a full senior season ahead of him, and hopes it will be one he and his teammates will never forget.

1981 Tiger Lettermen 49

25th Anniversary

In celebration of the 25th anniversary of Clemson's 1981 National Championship season, we will recall the careers of all the lettermen for the Tigers that season. We will go through the list in alphabetical order, 10 players at a time, as we progress through the season. Read the first installment of the series on page 49.

Hall of Fame Class 125-127

The Last Word 128

Walter Cox

Clemson lost a true legend this past June when he passed away at the age of 87. It seems we have been saying that a little too often lately. While he may not be at the forefront of Clemson fans from an athletic standpoint, he certainly was most prominent in Clemson University history when it came to all-around service.

On the Cover

Featured on the cover of today's game program are three seniors in Will Proctor (QB), Tim DeBeer (OT), and Cole Chason (P). Proctor has waited over four years to earn his chance as the starting quarterback. DeBeer is a key "sixth-man" on the offensive line, and Chason is a three-year starter at punter.

Tigers in Top 25 of Both Preseason Polls

Clemson is ranked #18 in the nation in the preseason of both the Associated Press and USA Today polls. It is the first time Clemson has been ranked in the preseason of both polls since 2001, when Clemson was #19 by AP and #18 by USA Today.

This year's #18 ranking is the highest preseason ranking for the Clemson program by Associated Press since the preseason of the 2000 season when Clemson was #17. The Tigers went on to finish #16 in the final AP poll that year after a 9-3 season.

The #18 ranking by AP is the highest for the program in any AP poll since the October 14, 2001 poll when Clemson was #13 after a 4-1 start. Clemson was ranked #21 in the final AP poll last year.

Ohio State is #1 in the preseason AP poll, followed by Notre Dame. Clemson is fourth among ACC teams in the Associated Press poll. Florida State is #11, Miami (FL) is #12, and Virginia Tech is #17. The Tigers must face Florida State on the road on September 16, and will play at Virginia Tech on October 26. Clemson will not face the Hurricanes in the regular season this year.

It is interesting to point out that this is the fifth year that at least one poll has picked Clemson #18 in the preseason. Clemson was #18 in the preseason by AP in 1958, 1959, and 1978 in addition to this year. Clemson was also #18 in the preseason for 2001.

Being ranked in the preseason is not always a good indicator of a successful season for the Tigers. Five of the last seven years the Tigers have been picked in the top 25 of the preseason, Clemson has failed to be ranked in the top 25 of the final poll. In 11 years, Clemson has been ranked in both the preseason and the postseason. The last time that happened was in 2000, when Clemson was #17 in the AP preseason, and finished #16.

In 1981 when Clemson won the National Championship, the Tigers were unranked in the preseason. Twice, the pollsters have been right on the money with their preseason ranking. In 1989, Clemson was #12 in the preseason and #12 in the final poll. In 1993, Clemson was #23 in the preseason and #23 in the postseason.

"I would rather be ranked in the preseason than not be ranked, but our goal is to be ranked at the end of the season," said Head Coach Tommy Bowden. "That would give us consecutive top-25 seasons, and that is something we haven't done yet. It is one of our goals for 2006."

Bowden vs. National Championship Coaches

Tommy Bowden has had a habit of defeating veteran head coaches who have won the National Championship since he has been the head coach of the Clemson program. He has a chance to enhance that number this afternoon when the Tigers take on Florida Atlantic and Head Coach Howard Schnellenberger.

Schnellenberger led Miami (FL) to the national title in 1983 with an Orange Bowl win over Nebraska, just two years after Clemson had captured the title with an Orange Bowl victory over the Cornhuskers. Bowden already has 10 wins over coaches who have won the national title since 1999, his first year at Clemson.

Entering Saturday's game, he has actually done it in two of the last three games. He defeated his father, Bobby Bowden of Florida State, last November 12 by a score of 35-14, then ended the regular season with a win over Steve Spurrier and South Carolina. Spurrier won the national title at Florida in 1996, and Bowden's father won the national title at Florida State in both 1993 and 1999.

Only two other coaches have defeated both Bobby Bowden and Spurrier in the same season. Phillip Fulmer did it for Tennessee in 1998, the year his Volunteers won the National Championship, and Butch Davis did it in 2000, his last year at Miami (FL).

Tommy Bowden already has 10 victories over five different coaches who have won the National Championship in their careers. He had three of the 10 wins in a four-game span to end the 2003 season.

Bowden had five wins over Lou Holtz, who led Notre Dame to the title in 1988, between 1999-04. Bowden defeated Fulmer in the 2004 Peach Bowl by a score of 27-14. Fulmer led the Volunteers to the title in 1998. He has twice beaten his father, who won the title in 1993 and 1999 with Florida State, and defeated Larry Coker of Miami (FL) in 2004 at the Orange Bowl by a score of 24-17. Coker led the Hurricanes to the national title in 2001.

Bowden already has the school record for wins over coaches who had won a national title. Danny Ford had seven such victories in his Clemson career between 1978-89. The national championship coaches Ford defeated were Woody Hayes of Ohio State, Barry Switzer of Oklahoma, Dan Devine of Notre Dame, Joe Paterno of Penn State, and Vince Dooley of Georgia (three times). He also defeated Tom Osborne of Nebraska, but Osborne had not yet won a national title when Ford beat him in the 1982 Orange Bowl.

Bowden Wins Over National Championship Coaches

Year	Head Coach	School	Score
1999	Lou Holtz	South Carolina	31-21
2000	Lou Holtz	South Carolina	16-14
2002	Lou Holtz	South Carolina	27-20
2003	Bobby Bowden	Florida State	26-10
	Lou Holtz	South Carolina	63-17
	Phillip Fulmer	Tennessee	27-14
2004	Larry Coker	Miami (FL)	24-17
	Lou Holtz	South Carolina	29-7
2005	Bobby Bowden	Florida State	35-14
	Steve Spurrier	South Carolina	13-9

Florida Atlantic Overview

Florida Atlantic comes to Clemson led by a legendary head coach. Howard Schnellenberger won a national championship as an assistant coach under Bear Bryant at Alabama in the 1960s, and won a title as a head coach at Miami (FL) in 1983.

When one looks at the history of the Hurricane program, it is Schnellenberger who got it going in the early 1980s. The program was near extinction before he arrived in 1979. He has also been the head coach at Louisville and Oklahoma, and was the head coach of the Baltimore Colts in 1973 and 1974. He has won 128 games as a college head coach.

Schnellenberger took on a great challenge when he became the head coach at Florida Atlantic in 2000. The Owls did not even have a program. It cannot be easy to start from scratch, but that is what he did, and he has had some fine teams. The best Owl squad was the 2003 team that finished 11-3. He followed that with a 9-3 campaign.

Head Coach Tommy Bowden stated that Schnellenberger will bring a sound team to Clemson from a fundamental standpoint. "They like to use a lot of two-backs on offense, and they will be multiple on defense. When I was a graduate assistant at Florida State and he was the head coach at Miami, he was certainly a coach that you watched with interest. He always had fundamental teams that out-executed teams."

This year's team has 42 returning lettermen and 17 starters back. It lost just nine lettermen off last season's team. Jervonte Jackson is a defensive lineman the Tigers will have to account for today. He is a preseason First-Team All-Sun Belt selection according to many preseason publications after he had 38 tackles as a freshman in 2005. Troy Pindell is a big-play guy on defense, as he led the team in interceptions (4) and blocked kicks (3) in 2005. Charles Pierre led Florida Atlantic in rushing last year as a freshman with 517 yards and three touchdowns.

Tommy Bowden has 10 wins over National Championship coaches in his seven years at Clemson, including two over Bobby Bowden.

Seven Tigers on Preseason Award Lists

Seven different Tigers are on a total of 13 preseason award lists for 2006. The list is led by Gaines Adams, who appears on five different preseason awards lists. Last year, cornerback Tye Hill reached the final three of the Jim Thorpe Award, while placekicker Jad Dean was one of three finalists for the Lou Groza Award.

Adams, a defensive end, is on the preseason list for the Walter Camp Award (college player-of-the-year), Lombardi Award (top lineman), Bronko Nagurski Award (top defensive player), Bednarik Award (top defensive player), and Hendricks Award (top defensive end).

Linebacker Anthony Waters is on the preseason list for the Nagurski Award and the Bednarik Award with Adams, and is also on the preseason list for the Butkus Award, which goes to the top linebacker in the nation. Former Tiger linebacker Keith Adams was a finalist for the award in 2000.

Two Clemson offensive linemen have been named to preseason lists. Starting center Dustin Fry is on the preseason list for the Dave Rimington Award. Fry was an intern this summer in the athletic department for former Clemson All-American Kyle Young. Young was a two-time finalist for the award (2000,01). Offensive guard Roman Fry is on the preseason list for the Outland Trophy, which goes to the top lineman in college football.

Sophomore running back James Davis is on the preseason list for the Maxwell Award. That honor goes to the top college football player in the nation.

Dean is on the preseason list for the Lou Groza Award. As stated above, he was a finalist last season.

Chansi Stuckey is the returning ACC reception champion, and is on the preseason list of candidates for the Biletnikoff Award, which goes to the top wideout in the nation.

Davis is a likely candidate for the Doak Walker Award as well, but that preseason list had not yet been announced as of late August.

Clemson Preseason Award List Summary

Player	Preseason Award List
Gaines Adams	Walter Camp, Lombardi, Bronko Nagurski, Bednarik, Hendricks
James Davis	Maxwell
Jad Dean	Groza
Dustin Fry	Rimington
Roman Fry	Outland
Chansi Stuckey	Biletnikoff
Anthony Waters	Bronko Nagurski, Bednarik, Butkus

Bowden to Play More First-Year Freshmen

Clemson's 2006 freshman class was regarded as among the best for the program in many years, and among the best in the nation according to many services. Head Coach Tommy Bowden has added to the interest with his praise of the first-year freshmen during preseason camp. He has stated that six or seven first-year freshmen could see action this year. Last year, eight first-year freshmen saw action.

In the last 24 years (or since 1982), Clemson has played 132 first-year freshmen, an average of 5.5 per season. Fifty-six of the first-year freshmen who have played have been offensive players, 72 have been defensive players, and four have been kickers.

Defensive end Gaines Adams is one of seven Tigers on preseason award watch lists.

Since Bowden came to Clemson in 1999, the Tigers have played 34 first-year freshmen, including 12 on offense, 20 on defense, and two on special teams. That is an average of 4.87 first-year freshmen per year, so Bowden is a bit below the Tiger average for the last 24 years.

The record for first-year freshmen played in one season is 11 in 1985. That year, Danny Ford played six first-year freshmen on offense and five on defense. The 1994 team under Tommy West played 10 first-year freshmen, including a record nine on offense.

The most wins for a Tiger team that has played at least eight first-year freshmen is 10, set in 1989, a team that played eight first-year freshmen in a 10-2 season.

The most first-year freshmen Clemson has played in the Bowden era is nine in 2001. That year, Bowden played three on offense and six on defense on the way to a 7-5 season.

Clemson has played at least one first-year freshman for all 24 years of the red-shirt rule. The fewest was the one used in 2002 (Justin Miller).

Stuckey is Walter Johnson of Tiger Football

Chansi Stuckey is the Walter Johnson of Clemson football. Johnson holds the Major League Baseball record for wins on opening day with nine during his hall of fame career in the early stages of the 20th century.

Stuckey has played well in season-openers the last two years, and he will try to make it three in a row when Clemson meets Florida Atlantic. Both opening games have been close Tiger victories, the 25-24 win over #17 Texas A&M in 2005, and the 37-30 overtime thriller against Wake Forest in 2004.

In the win over the Aggies, Stuckey scored Clemson's only touchdown on a 47-yard punt return in the first half. The junior wide receiver also had three catches for 50 yards and three yards rushing, giving him 106 all-purpose yards for the game, second on the team behind James Davis' 107 yards.

Stuckey also had a great game on opening day in 2004 against Wake Forest. The native of Warner Robins, GA had eight catches for 112 yards, career-highs at the time. He also had 10 yards rushing, three punt return yards, a blocked punt, and a key block on Justin Miller's 69-yard punt return for a touchdown.

Thus, Stuckey has had at least 100 all-purpose yards in each of the last two openers.

Stuckey enters this season with 91 career receptions, so he needs just nine to reach the 100 mark for his career. He is already 15th in Clemson history in career catches, and is 20th in career reception yards (1,060). He has caught at least one pass in each of his last 21 games, or every game he has played at the wide receiver position in his career. He was a quarterback as a freshman in 2003.

Clemson Successful With Senior Quarterbacks

Clemson will be led at quarterback this year by senior Will Proctor. The native of Winter Park, FL will be making just his second college start when the Tigers face Florida Atlantic today. His only previous start came last year against Duke, when he connected on 13-21 passes for 201 yards and two touchdowns.

Having a senior in his first year as the starting quarterback is not necessarily a bad thing. There have been examples in Clemson history where the Tigers have had a very successful season with a first-year senior starter at quarterback. The last time it happened was 1989, when Chris Morocco led the Tigers to a 10-2 season and #12 final national ranking by AP.

Billy Lott was in the same situation in 1979, and he guided Clemson to an 8-4 record, including wins over Notre Dame and Georgia. Charlie Bussey was technically a first-year, senior starter at quarterback in 1956, and he led the Tigers to the Orange Bowl that season.

Since 1978, Clemson has had a senior as its starting quarterback during 11 seasons, and the combined final record for the Tigers in those seasons is 92-36-2, a 73-percent winning mark. That basically equates to an 8-3 season.

Clemson has been to a bowl nine of those 11 seasons it has had a senior quarterback since 1978, and the two years it did not go to a bowl, it was due to NCAA probation, not because of a poor record.

Will Proctor

Senior Spotlight

By Kyle Tucker

Will Proctor remembers it like it was yesterday. A sixth grader in Winter Park, FL, Proctor had played sports his whole life, but for the first time was going to give football a shot. The senior quarterback got his first taste of the game while playing for who else?...The Tigers.

"I got started playing football in the sixth grade for the Winter Park Tigers," said Proctor. "It was my first experience being a Tiger, and it would not be my last."

Between his time as a Winter Park Tiger and a Clemson Tiger, Proctor had quite a high school career at Trinity Preparatory School. As a freshman quarterback in 1998, Proctor was given the reigns to the Saints' offense. His favorite target that season?...his older brother Ricky, a senior wide receiver.

"Having my brother as my leading receiver as a freshman was a great experience," recalled Proctor. "Ricky was a senior that season and made life as a quarterback for me much easier. He had everything you wanted in a receiver...great hands and a nose for the endzone."

Proctor went on to set many records at Trinity Prep, and as his junior year was drawing to a close, he realized for the first time he may end up at Clemson.

"During a spring break trip, I had gone to visit North Carolina, N.C. State, Wake Forest, and Duke," explained Proctor. "I was in the airport on the way back to Orlando when my high school coach called and asked if we could stop by Clemson on the way home, because Clemson had just offered me a scholarship."

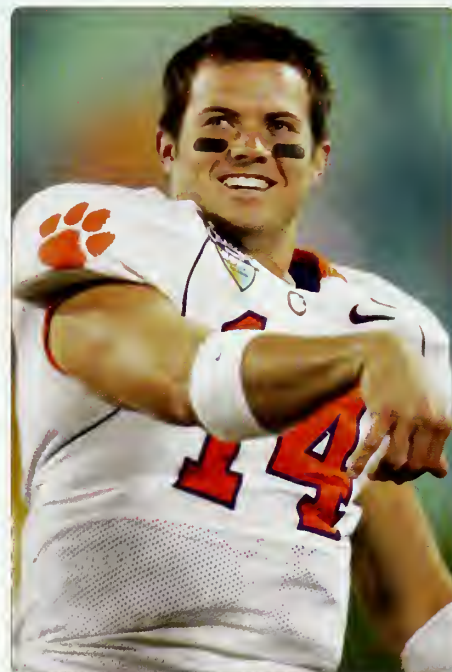

Proctor could not change his plans on such short notice, but he did come to Clemson that summer. He had also visited Notre Dame and had attended camp in South Bend. But, former Tiger Assistant Coach Rick Stockstill, now the head coach at Middle Tennessee, recruited Proctor and presented numerous reasons why he should come to Tigertown.

"Clemson has so much to offer," said Proctor. "The traditions, the pageantry, the great academic reputation, and a great coaching staff. It felt like a great fit for my family and I, and I'm certainly glad I chose Clemson."

In the end, it was the only school where Proctor took on an official visit.

He arrived at Clemson in the fall of 2002 and spent that season as a red-shirt. It was during this time when Proctor began to put his stamp on the Clemson program. He established that his work ethic was second to none and that he would be a player his teammates could count on throughout his career.

In the spring of 2003, Proctor won the team's strength and conditioning competition called the "Ironman" by a wide margin. In an event that many players struggle to even finish, he crossed the finish line in a dead sprint with a huge smile on his face. His time in the event was the fastest recorded time at Clemson according to Director of Strength & Conditioning Joey Batson.

After five games in the 2003 season, the Tigers prepared for a Homecoming battle with #25 Virginia. Proctor was third-team on the depth chart at quarterback behind Charlie Whitehurst and Chansi Stuckey, but wanted on the field badly. When approached about possibly playing wideout that week to help a receiving corps that had been decimated by injury, Proctor jumped at the chance. He lined up for the first time as a Tiger that day as a wide receiver instead of a quarterback. In fact, Proctor went on to play in four more games in Clemson's 9-4 season, all at wide receiver.

Before the 2004 season, Stuckey moved to wide receiver and Proctor became that backup quarterback. High preseason expectations for the Tigers had many believing Proctor would see action if Clemson could get ahead big. However, Clemson played six games that were decided by seven points or less that year, and he only saw action in the Florida State and Utah State games. He threw just three passes all season.

In the 2005 Spring Game, Proctor served notice that even though he had not yet had the chance to show it in game situations, he was a talented quarterback. He broke the Tiger Spring Game record with a 275-yard passing day, and also threw three scores in what was then a new offense under first-year Offensive Coordinator Rob Spence.

Fast forward to the 2005 opener with the Tigers clinging to a 19-17 lead over #17 Texas A&M. Whitehurst was dazed after a hit to the head early in a Tiger third-quarter drive, forcing Proctor into the game. What transpired is what Proctor calls one of his most memorable experiences as a Tiger.

"I'll never forget the Texas A&M game and helping the team to a fourth-quarter comeback (Clemson fell behind 24-22 before coming back to win)," said Proctor. "It was an amazing experience, but one that would not have been complete without a total team effort. The defense had to make a stop, and it did. The offense had to put the ball in position to score, and it did. Finally, the special teams had to deliver with the winning kick, and they did."

Proctor led three drives that night, two of which were scoring drives ending in field goals. Not only did he help lead the Tigers to an important early-season win, he also showed that Clemson had depth at quarterback behind Whitehurst.

Later in the 2005 season, Whitehurst was sidelined with a shoulder injury. Proctor filled in quite nicely for the senior quarterback in his first career start against Duke. Proctor threw for 201 yards and two touchdown passes in leading the Tigers to a 49-20 win over the Blue Devils. His passing efficiency for that game was 161.4, third-best by a Tiger all season.

"My first start against Duke was one of the most fun days of my life," smiled Proctor. "It is something you dream about and think about all the time, and to finally be able to be the starter was an exciting time for me."

That experience certainly gives Head Coach Tommy Bowden confidence that Proctor can get the job done this year. "Will is a student of the game," said Bowden. "He has been looking at all that film and has sat in all those quarterback meetings taking notes the last four years. He just needs some game experience. He passed his two tests last year."

Clemson has had success with seniors in their first year as the starting quarterback before. The Tigers have not been in this situation at the signal-calling position since 1989. That year, Chris Mocco was a fifth-year senior who had waited his turn behind Rodney Williams. He led the Tigers to a 10-2 record and a #12 final national ranking.

Will Proctor led Clemson on a last-minute, game-winning scoring drive against #17 Texas A&M in the 2005 season-opener.

Prior to that, Billy Lott was a senior in his first year as the starter in 1979. He led Clemson to an 8-4 record, including victories over Georgia and Notre Dame. Fifty years ago, Charlie Bussey was in virtually the same situation and took the Tigers to the Orange Bowl.

Proctor looks to 2006 with optimism and says the team has prepared as well as he has seen in his days as a Tiger. Even though today's game officially kicks off the 2006 season, he says it actually began eight months ago in his hometown of Orlando.

"On December 27, we beat Colorado in the Champs Sports Bowl," said Proctor. "We enjoyed our win that night and the season we had just finished, but on the morning of December 28, we began to prepare for the 2006 season."

Proctor is one of 14 fifth-year seniors who will be counted on as leaders on the 2006 version of the Clemson Tigers. There is a fifth-year senior represented at nearly every position, and the group has one goal in mind as the season starts.

"We have had a theme the whole offseason when we workout, run, and do drills," stated Proctor. "The goal for this year's team is to play in the BCS, and to do that we have to win the ACC title. We want the Clemson Tigers to be the team representing the Atlantic Division in Jacksonville on December 2, and we have been focused on that goal since the conclusion of the bowl game last season."

Proctor received a welcome surprise shortly before preseason camp started when he learned that former Tiger quarterback Willie Simmons would be joining the Clemson coaching staff as a graduate assistant. Proctor was a freshman during Simmons' last year (2002) at Clemson.

"I learned a lot from Willie (it will take some time to call him Coach Simmons) in the time we had together as players," said Proctor. "I really looked up to him my freshman year and still do today, and I am very happy he is back for my senior year."

As Proctor readies for his final season, he approaches it with both excitement and caution, as he knows it his last season with his Tiger teammates. When asked what is the best part about being a Clemson football player, there was no hesitancy in his answer.

"My teammates have been the best part about playing football at Clemson," said Proctor. "I am privileged to be a part of a wonderful team. The men on this team will be friends forever. Just to be a part of this team has been one of the greatest honors I could ever hope for."

As far as Clemson's traditions are concerned, there is one that is unique and stands out to the whole country. Many Tigers, both past and present, have said that running down the Hill is one of the most thrilling experiences in sports. Proctor says it is not only thrilling, but also the best part of gameday.

"There is no question in my mind that running down the Hill is the best part of gameday," said Proctor. "It never gets old, and I can't wait to do it again."

Watching Proctor run down the Hill again today will be his parents Rick and Karen Proctor. The Proctors have made it to Clemson from Orlando for every home game since 2002, and often make it to see practice at certain points throughout the season. They also travel to every road game as well.

"My family has had the biggest influence on my athletic career," said #14. "I am fortunate to come from a wonderful family. I have two tremendous role models in my parents, and I have a great older brother Ricky."

In his first career start, Will Proctor was 13-21 for 201 yards and two touchdowns in Clemson's 49-20 win over Duke last season.

Proctor is on track to graduate in December, and already has goals in mind for after his days at Clemson. "Hopefully our team can have a great season first and foremost," said Proctor. "When the season is over, I hope to have performed well enough to give professional football a shot and see what happens from there."

The plans do not end with a football career. In fact, it is quite the opposite for the business management major with an emphasis on finance.

"I have future plans for something in financial services, whether it be asset management or financial planning," said Proctor. "There are a lot of things I would like to do. I would enjoy doing anything with finance, but at the same time I want to be involved with sports somehow. If I could write the script, I would have a successful career in financial management and have a group of friends purchase the Orlando Magic (the NBA team in which he has an unquestioned allegiance to)."

As for now, Proctor will have one season to live out what he and his teammates hope is a dream season. Energetic, enthusiastic, and hard-working are but three of many adjectives that can be used to describe the patient Tiger. His energy resonates throughout the team, and he has become one of the team's main leaders. How many players would welcome the idea of waking up the morning after a win in a bowl game to run and work out? While the exact number of names on that list is uncertain, it is certain that it would contain the name Will Proctor.

Kyle Tucker worked in the Clemson Sports Information Office from 2004-06, and is now a teacher and coach at Cartersville (GA) High School.

Uncommon Wisdom

Tim DeBeer

Senior Spotlight

By Joni Byars

Tiger offensive lineman Tim DeBeer will be playing in the first home game of his senior season in Death Valley today. Growing up in nearby Atlanta, GA has helped make Clemson feel like home to DeBeer and his parents, who have not missed a football game of his since he was in the seventh grade. It is the same parental dedication they showed his brother Steve, who played on the defensive line at Furman from 1998-01.

Steve also had the pleasure of not only playing on the gridiron with current Tight Ends Coach Billy Napier, but he was his roommate as well. When asked if Tim knew Coach Napier prior to playing for him at Clemson, he smiled and replied, "I've known him since he was 18."

Small world.

DeBeer gives a great deal of credit to his older brother for coaching and mentoring him throughout his football and academic careers. Both Tim and Steve attended Marist High School in Atlanta through middle and high school.

"Steve taught me a lot about football, but also he showed me the importance of academics, the importance of being a hard worker on and off the field, and the importance of showing respect to your elders," said #73. "He wasn't a father-figure; I had my dad for that. He just reinforced what our dad had already taught us."

DeBeer will continue to follow in his brother's footsteps on and off the field in the coming months. Steve is in medical school at Miami (FL), but still manages to make it to three or four Clemson games a year to support his younger brother. Tim plans on applying to law school or going to graduate school to earn an MBA. He would prefer to get an MBA from Clemson's program.

At first glance, one would not think of DeBeer as the quiet type, but talking with him about his football career made him seem kind of shy, modest even. The best person to talk about his abilities on the field, and off for that matter, is his position coach of the last five years, Assistant Head Coach Brad Scott.

"The first thing I want to tell you about Tim DeBeer is he's a program guy," said Scott after a preseason August practice. "He works extremely hard, and he has been our 'putty man' on the offensive line for the last two years. By that I mean he's the guy that can play left tackle, he can play right tackle, and he can play guard. He knows every assignment out there, and that is very important."

"He's a very responsible, dependable young man that has been a great asset to our program. He's the guy in our meeting room who when nobody else knows the answer to my question, they always go to 'Coach DeBeer,' and he always knows it."

"The other players call him the 'G.A.' (graduate assistant), because he is on top of every position there. Because of that, he's the guy that I put a lot of confidence and trust in. I can put him in the ballgame and know that we are not going to get any missed assignments."

"He understands what his role is on our football team, and takes great pride in it. He's our sixth man on the offensive line."

DeBeer played for Marist High near Atlanta and helped continue a tradition of excellence that has seen that program involved in the playoffs for almost 25 consecutive years. He was All-DeKalb County as a senior and a two-year starter on the offensive line. Three linemen from his team went to Division I schools his senior year (the others went to Georgia and Stanford), helping Marist to a #15 national ranking at the conclusion of the season.

Not bad for a small private school from Atlanta.

DeBeer red-shirted his freshman year (2002), and teammates William Henry and Gregory Walker took this young offensive lineman under their wing.

"Greg Walker really helped me out a lot when I first came to Clemson," recalled DeBeer. "He was very smart and knew the game. He has really had a positive influence on my career."

DeBeer already has a lot of great memories of Clemson football to tell his grandchildren, and he hopes his senior year will add to the list. But no game sticks out quite like the Florida State game in 2003. He did not get a chance to play in that game as a red-shirt freshman, but it was still memorable from the sidelines.

"Just being a part of that team and that game was awesome," remembered DeBeer. "It was the highest-ranked win in our history. It was Bobby Bowden against Tommy Bowden, and the first time we beat Florida State since they joined the conference."

Clemson won that game by a score of 26-10 and went on to sweep the rest of the games that season. Included in that list was a 63-17 victory at South Carolina, a game DeBeer played in, and the victory over #6 Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl in his hometown.

By far the best game that DeBeer has had personally was the Miami (FL) game in the Orange Bowl in 2004. DeBeer had an 89-percent grade on 14 snaps with a career-high three knockdown blocks.

"It was the first time I got to play a big role in a big game," said DeBeer.

Clemson defeated the #10 Hurricanes on the road in overtime in the Orange Bowl that night, bringing back memories of Clemson's run to the National Championship in 1981.

One of the highlights of DeBeer's junior season came in another road game, at N.C. State in a Thursday night game on ESPN. DeBeer had the chance to compete against the nation's best when he played 19 offensive snaps against Mario Williams, the #1 overall selection of the 2006 NFL draft.

"Playing against Mario Williams last year was definitely a big deal," said DeBeer. "It gave me the opportunity to compete against the best in the nation."

It might have been the best game Clemson played all year, as the Tigers came away with a resounding 31-10 victory.

DeBeer has been working hard in preparation for his senior season. He again will see plenty of playing time as "the putty man" on the offensive line.

"We have a strong group of seniors on the offensive line," stated DeBeer. "We train together, we hang out together, and we take classes together."

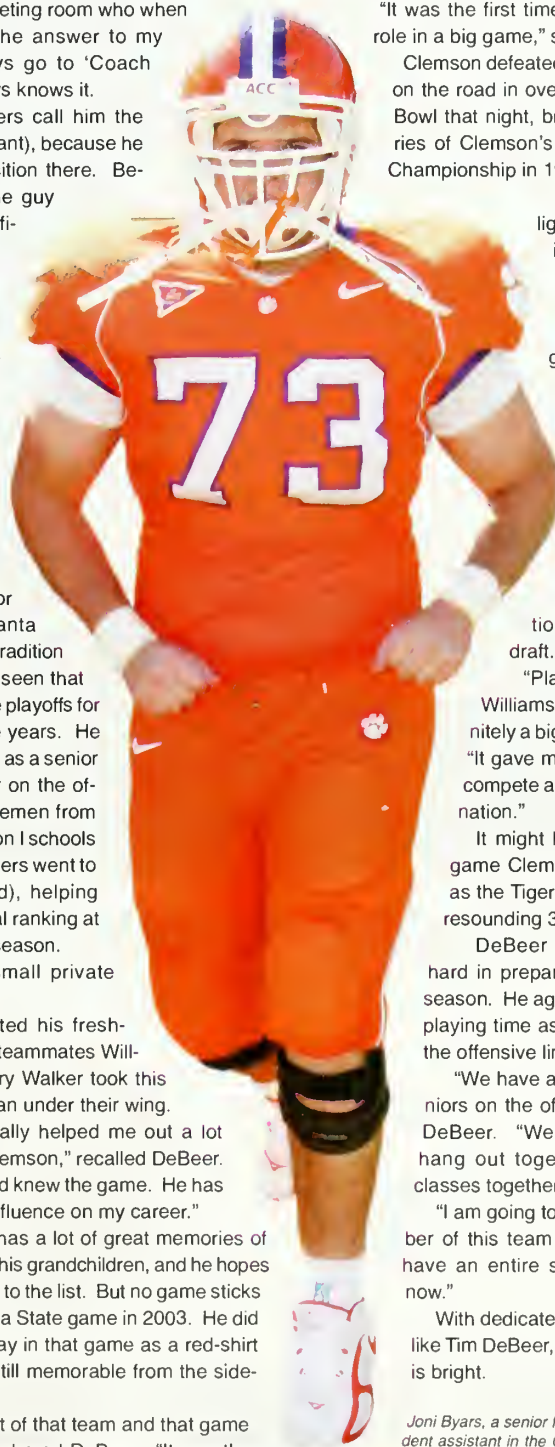

"I am going to miss being a member of this team next year. But we have an entire season to live right now."

With dedicated, intelligent players like Tim DeBeer, the outlook for 2006 is bright.

Joni Byars, a senior from Lyman, SC, is a student assistant in the Clemson Sports Information Office.

Fifth-year senior Tim DeBeer is a valuable "sixth-man" on the offensive line and has earned the respect of his fellow linemen.

Cole Chason

Senior Spotlight

By Kyle Tucker

Cole Chason's football career began rather innocently. A soccer star during much of his youth, Chason always felt that would be the sport he would play beyond the high school level. In fact, Chason never really gave playing football much thought until his eighth-grade year.

"All of my friends used to come to my soccer games and tell me that I should play football, too," said Chason. "In ninth grade, I decided to come out and play football, not as a kicker, but to play other positions."

As a freshman at Greater Atlanta Christian School in Norcross, GA, Chason played tight end and defensive end for the junior varsity team. Late in the season, the kicker for the varsity team had to miss a game due to injury, which forced Chason into action. He performed all three kicking duties (punts, field goals, kickoffs) in one of the Spartans' biggest games of the season, and thus provided him with valuable experience for later in his career.

Chason started every game as a placekicker and punter over his final three years at Greater Atlanta Christian School. A versatile athlete, Chason showed how valuable he was to his team when his coaches deemed him the scout-team quarterback his senior season due to his tremendous arm strength. He was a three-time selection as the All-Gwinnett County punter, including all-state honors as a senior. Chason says his final career field goal is his fondest memory of high school football.

In a playoff game against Cartersville High, Chason booted a career-long 52-yard field goal that hit the crossbar and bounced in for three points. "Even though we did not win that game, whenever I think of high school football, I think of that kick," said Chason.

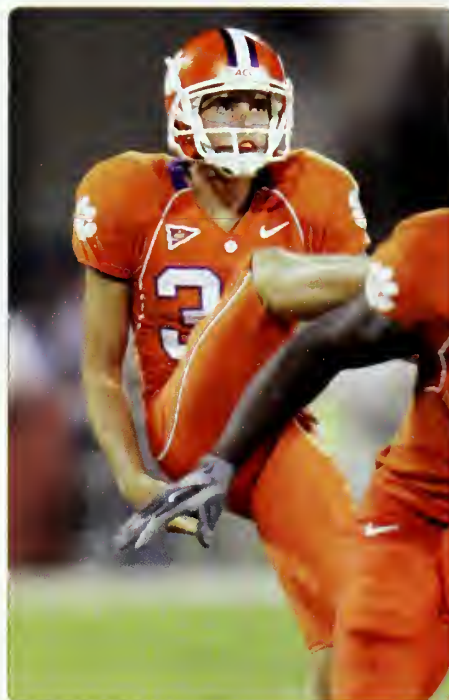

In the spring of his junior year, Chason began to look at colleges. He attended Clemson's camp later that summer and shortly after received a scholarship offer.

"Clemson was always one of my top choices," admitted Chason. "I really liked the size of the school, especially because I went to a small private high school. When the coaches offered me a scholarship, I committed right then because there really was no decision to make. Also, it was close enough to home that my parents could watch me play, which was very important to me."

Chason arrived at Clemson in 2002 and spent that season as a red-shirt. He also fought through a back injury, but was healthy in time for spring practice in 2003.

That experience in spring practice gave him the experience he needed to become a starter from day one of the 2003 season. In fact, entering today's game with Florida Atlantic, Chason has started every game at punter since the 2003 opener except for one due to a technicality. In the 2004 Georgia Tech game, former Tiger quarterback Charlie Whitehurst had a 25-yard quick-kick early in the game, and therefore was listed as the starting punter, because it was Clemson's first punt of the game.

Chason has a career average of 38.6 yards per punt. While not known for a lot of booming punts, he has a knack for pinning the opposition inside its own 20. He has 50 career punts inside the 20, just 19 away from Dale Hatcher's Tiger record of 69. He had just one touchback compared to 13 punts inside the 20 in 2005, helping Clemson establish field position in key situations.

His best games have come in some of Clemson's biggest wins over the past three seasons. In a 39-3 victory over Georgia Tech in Atlanta in 2003, Chason averaged 44.3 on six punts, and his net figure was 41.2. That is the third-best net punting figure for a game in his career. The 44.3 average is second-best as well.

Chason returned to Atlanta later that year against #6 Tennessee in the 2004 Peach Bowl. Playing in front of many friends and family members, Chason averaged 42.0 yards on five punts. Only one of his punts was returned for a total of five yards, so his net figure was an outstanding 41.0.

It was a big reason Clemson came away with a 27-14 victory over the top-10 Volunteers. That is the highest-ranked team Clemson has beaten in a bowl game over the last 24 years. Even more impressive, he outperformed All-America Volunteer punter Dustin Colquitt, and was singled out for his performance in the Tiger locker room by Head Coach Tommy Bowden for that performance.

In 2004, he had a career-best 40.2-yard average, with 18 punts inside the 20 and five punts of 50 yards or more. His best performance came against Maryland when he averaged 45 yards on eight punts in Clemson's 10-7 victory. He also had a 41.5-yard net average in the win over South Carolina.

While he is not a native of the Palmetto State, he seems to save his best for the Gamecocks. In his three career contests against South Carolina, he has 10 punts for a 41.2-yard average. But, South Carolina has just two returns for -3 yards against Chason, giving him a 41.5-yard career net average, his best against any Tiger opponent.

In addition to his duties as a punter, Chason has also served as Clemson's holder on placekicks since midway through his red-shirt freshman season. The streak is at 31 consecutive games entering today's season-opener. On homecoming against #25 Virginia in 2003, Chason was forced into action after first-team holder Gene Pate was injured as he was running down the Hill.

"Coach (Brad) Scott came up to me right before the game and told me I was going to have to hold," said #30. "To be honest, I did not really believe him at first. Then I realized that he was serious. I remember being a lot more nervous before my first hold than I was before my first punt."

Former Tiger placekicker Aaron Hunt was a senior that season, and recalled exactly how nervous Chason was. "It was my first kick in a game with Cole holding, but we had worked together in practice, so I felt alright. But when we got out there for our first kick, I looked down and Cole's hand was shaking uncontrollably, so I was a little worried.

"Thankfully we made the kick, and we still laugh about that to this day. It worked out for the best, because Cole is one of the best holders I've ever worked with."

The Tigers went on to win that game by a score of 30-27 in overtime.

Cole Chason has been the Tigers' holder since 2003. His hold on Jad Dean's last-second field goal against #17 Texas A&M in 2005 was crucial in Clemson's 25-24 win.

2006 CLEMSON FOOTBALL

When asked about his favorite memories as a Tiger, Chason says there are two that stick out as he enters his senior season. "I have two memories that are in a tie for first place in my mind. The first is the 2004 Miami game. We ran a fake field goal where I flipped the ball over my shoulder to Jad (Dean), and he ran for a first down. Jad still says he would have scored had Antrelle Rolle not grabbed his facemask, but I don't know. I do know that we scored a touchdown on the next play and went on to win in overtime. It was a great play and really gave us the momentum we needed to win that game."

The second top memory occurred in 2005. With Clemson trailing #17 Texas A&M 24-22 with less than 10 seconds remaining, the Tigers lined up for a game-winning field-goal attempt from 42 yards away. The snap on the kick from Nic Riddle was neither perfect nor disastrous, but Chason had to scoop it off the ground in time for Dean to make the kick and give Clemson a season-opening win over a ranked team for the first time since 1959.

"Nic still likes to joke that he snapped the ball low to make me famous," said Chason. "The kick was good, so in our minds the snap was fine. It takes a good snap, hold, and kick to execute a field goal or extra point. After I saw the ball was going through the uprights, I remember turning around and seeing the celebration by both the team and the fans was crazy. It was a great moment."

Chason, Riddle, and Dean hope the great moments are just beginning, as they are now all roommates. "Living with those guys is something I am looking forward to," said Chason. "I think it helps on the field too as far as trust is concerned. I trust that Nic will get the snap to me, and if I get the ball down, I trust Jad to make the kick. Hopefully they have trust and confidence in me, too."

Dean certainly has confidence in Chason as a holder. In fact, every kick Dean has attempted at Clemson has been with Chason as his holder.

"I have 100-percent confidence in Cole," said the 2005 Lou Groza Award finalist. "I know that no matter where the snap is, he is going to get the ball on the spot and we are going to get the kick off. I think he is the best holder in the nation."

Chason is one of 20 seniors on the 2006 team, 14 of which are fifth-year seniors that have been together since the fall of 2002. Since they became active players in 2003, the class is 2-0 in bowl games, has seven wins over top-25 teams, and has two top-25 finishes. However, there is still one accomplishment the senior class has its sights set on. Chason speaks for his teammates when he mentions the goals for the 2006 team.

"As a team, we want to win the ACC Championship," said Chason. "We have talked about that during the spring, summer, and preseason. We have been close before, and hopefully this season we can get to Jacksonville and play for the conference championship."

Chason also says the special teams unit has set goals for the 2006 season. "Early in camp we decided as a punt unit that we want to average over 38 yards in net punting. That means everyone has to be accountable and perform his job. I have to hit a good punt and the other guys must cover. I want to give them a chance to get downfield and cover the punt, because we have some guys who can cover well."

Chason believes that his time at Clemson has gone by quickly, as he recalls arriving on campus as a freshman as though it was yesterday. As for the best part of being a Tiger football player, Chason says there is one moment during each home game that he always looks forward to.

"After you get off the bus and get to the top of the Hill, you understand at that moment that all the hard work has paid off," stated Chason. "Every workout, meeting, and practice is worth it when you are at the top of the Hill, because all you can see and hear are the fans going crazy. We have great fans, and they provide us with a great deal of inspiration."

A well-rounded athlete, Chason is known among teammates as competitive in just about every sport. Chason has shown his skill to his teammates in many sports, from golf, to tennis, to basketball.

Cole Chason graduated with a degree in marketing in the spring of 2006.

Dean agreed, saying, "It seems that no matter what type of game or sport we play in our spare time, Cole is an expert. I will say he is an all-around athlete; I even bet he would be good at synchronized swimming or curling!"

One thing that has been visible throughout his career at Clemson has been his family. His parents, Russell and Chyrisse, come to every game, and often make it to practices and scrimmages. Chason's sister Dana is a sophomore at Auburn, but still makes it to many of Clemson's games.

"My parents have been the most influential on my athletic career," said Chason. "They have always been supportive in all of my decisions, and it is great to have them at every game. Dana is very supportive, too, and always has something encouraging to say after games whether we win or lose."

Chason completed his degree in marketing in the spring of 2006 and is now working on a second major in parks, recreation, and tourism management. He made the Dean's List for the spring semester of 2006 and has been on the ACC Academic Honor roll three of his four years at Clemson. As for future plans, Chason is taking it one day at a time.

"At this point, I am working as hard as I can for the upcoming season," said Chason. "If things go well, then I'd like to have a shot to try out for the NFL. If that does not work out, then hopefully I can use my marketing degree to work somewhere in the sports world. Whether it is with a stadium or with a team, I just want to work with sports."

Always positive and possessing an unassuming attitude, Chason has been a favorite among his teammates during his time as a Tiger. He has provided many laughs, both intentionally and unintentionally, and will be missed when his career ends. However, Chason still has a full senior season ahead of him, and hopes it will be one he and his teammates will never forget.

Kyle Tucker worked in the Clemson Sports Information Office from 2004-06, and is now a teacher and coach at Cartersville (GA) High School.

In addition to being a teacher and a leader, James F. Barker is an architect, an artist, and a builder of one of the nation's most rapidly improving public universities, Clemson. Barker came to the office in 1999 with a clear vision and a goal of making

Clemson one of the nation's top 20 public universities - an institution that draws outstanding faculty and students, provides an unmatched academic experience, and helps drive the state's economic development.

A 1970 Clemson graduate, Barker has said, "South Carolina needs a top-tier research university, and our students deserve to have access to a top-tier education without leaving their home state. Building Clemson's academic, research, and service programs to the level where we can compete with anyone will benefit our state, our students, and our alumni."

Clemson, already South Carolina's top-ranked public university, is making strides toward that goal. During Barker's presidency, the university has:

- been recognized as Time Magazine's "Public College-of-the-Year" and ranked #1 among the "Best Places to Work in Academia" by The Scientist Magazine.
- developed and implemented an academic "Road Map" with eight emphasis areas aligned with South Carolina's economic needs.
- launched major new education and research-based economic initiatives, including the Clemson University International Center for Automotive Research (CU-ICAR) in Greenville, and the Clemson University Restoration Institute in Charleston.
- redesigned the general education curriculum to focus on learning outcomes, and give undergraduates more opportunities for study abroad, service-learning, and research.
- hosted the first-ever ACC "Meeting of the Minds" conference for undergraduate research and creative inquiry.
- attracted more students who are clearly among America's best.
- more than doubled external research funding, and completed Clemson's largest capital campaign.

Working with state leaders and private industry partners, Barker has steered Clemson into a greater economic development role. Master planning is complete for the CU-ICAR campus near I-85. The BMW Information Technology Resources Center is operational and construction is underway on the Carroll Campbell Graduate Engineering Center. The first class of Ph.D. students in automotive engineering will enter this fall and recruiting has begun for master's degree candidates. They will be taught by distinguished professors brought to the state to hold endowed chairs established under the South Carolina Research Centers of Excellence Act. Three of the four chairs devoted to automotive engineering - the BMW Chair, the Michelin Chair, and the Timken Chair - have already been filled.

Clemson is also investing $80 million to develop an advanced materials industry cluster. The linchpin is the Advanced Materials Research Laboratory, located in the Clemson Research Park in Anderson County, which is anchored by the nation's top optical materials and electron microscopy laboratories.

Barker also is becoming a leading voice in higher education in South Carolina and beyond. He currently chairs the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and chaired the ACC Council of Presidents during the league's recent expansion. He began a term on the national NCAA Board of Directors in spring of 2006.

For his leadership, Barker has received the Order of the Palmetto, South Carolina's highest civilian honor, and the 2006 Chief Executive Leadership Award from the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) Southeastern District III. He was an invited speaker at the first-ever Forum on Presidential Leadership in June of 2006, sponsored by The Chronicle of Higher Education, and attended by more than 250 college and university presidents and trustees.

As president, Barker remains committed to the classroom. Each spring, he is part of a team that teaches an undergraduate course exploring "a sense of place" in architecture, literature, and history.

In presenting the Distinguished Alumnus Award in 2005, Washington University Chancellor Mark Wrighton said, "James F. Barker has taken the architectural skills and knowledge required to design a building and applied them to the future of a university. His architect's vision, collaborative instincts, and sense of place are rapidly pushing Clemson up through the ranks of the nation's top public universities. He has become a leader in national academic circles by creating a new model of education, building interdisciplinary partnerships among the professional schools, and the basic curriculum by tearing down artificial walls between disciplines."

A native of Kingsport, TN, Barker earned his B.A. degree from Clemson in 1970 and his master of architecture and urban design degree from Washington University in Saint Louis, MO in 1973. He and his wife Marcia have a son (Jacob) and daughter-in-law (Rita Bolt), and another son Britt.

Clemson's Goals By 2010

Academics, Research, & Service

1. Excel in teaching, at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.
2. Increase research and sponsored programs to exceed $100 million a year in research support.
3. Set the standard in public service for land-grant universities by engaging the whole campus in service and outreach, including a focus on strategic emphasis areas.
4. Foster Clemson's academic reputation through strong academic programs, mission-oriented research and academic centers of excellence, relevant public service, and highly-regarded faculty and staff.
5. Seek and cultivate areas where teaching, research, and service overlap.

Campus Life

1. Strengthen our sense of community and increase our diversity.
2. Recognize and appreciate Clemson's distinctiveness.
3. Create greater awareness of international programs and increase activity in this area.
4. Increase our focus on collaboration.
5. Maintain an environment that is healthy, safe, and attractive.

Clemson's National Reputation

1. Promote high integrity and professional demeanor among all members of the University community.
2. Establish a Phi Beta Kappa chapter.
3. Have at least two Clemson students win Rhodes Scholarships.
4. Send student ensembles to perform at Carnegie Hall.
5. Have at least two Clemson faculty members win recognition by national academies.
6. Publicize both national and international accomplishments of faculty, staff, and students.
7. While maintaining full compliance, achieve notable recognition with another national football championship, two championships in Olympic sports, and two Final Four appearances in basketball.

Educational Resources

1. Campaign goal surpassed by 40 percent.
2. Rededicate our energy and resources to improving the library.
3. Increase faculty compensation to a level competitive with top-20 public universities.
4. Increase academic expenditures per student to a level competitive with top-20 public universities.
5. Manage enrollment to ensure the highest quality classroom experiences.

Student Performance

1. Attract more students who are ranked in the top-10 percent of their high school classes and who perform exceptionally well on the SAT/ACT.
2. Promote high graduation rates by increasing freshman retention, meeting expectations of high achievers, and providing support systems for all students.
3. Promote excellence in advising.
4. Increase the annual number of doctoral graduates to the level of a top-20 public research university.
5. Improve the national competitiveness of graduate student admissions and financial aid.

Dr. Terry Don Phillips

Clemson University Athletic Director

2006 CLEMSON FOOTBALL

It hasn't taken Dr. Terry Don Phillips long to make his mark on Clemson University. That impact was recognized in June of 2006 when he was honored by NACDA (National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics) as the 2005-06

GeneralSports Turf Systems Athletic Director-of-the-Year for the Southeast Region of Division I-A. He was one of just four Division I-A athletic directors honored at the annual convention in New Orleans.

Phillips was honored for many reasons. In 2005-06, Clemson finished its most successful all-around athletics year in his tenure. The program had six-top 25 programs, including top-10 final rankings in men's soccer, golf, and baseball. It marked the first time since 1979 that Clemson reached the Final Four in soccer and the College World Series in baseball in the same academic year.

Clemson also had top-25 finishes in football, men's tennis, and women's tennis. The school's athletic program won a postseason football, men's basketball, and baseball game this academic year, the first time the program has done that since 1993-94. Clemson was the only school in the country to win a postseason football game, a postseason basketball game, and a College World Series game.

Clemson finished #32 in the nation in the Director's Cup standings on a per-sport basis in 2005-06 and #39 in total points, Clemson's highest rankings under the current scoring structure.

From an academic standpoint, nine of Clemson's 15 sports programs scored a perfect 100-percent graduation rate according to the Graduation Success Rate (GSR) figures announced by the NCAA on December 19, 2005. Clemson was #7 in the nation among the 119 Division I-A institutions in percentage of programs with a 100-percent score.

The Tiger football program had a 94-percent rate, fourth in the nation among Division I programs, trailing only Navy, Notre Dame, and Wake Forest. In the spring semester of 2006, the 15 programs had a combined GPA of 2.84, third-best on record, and all-time records were set for most Dean's List and President's List student-athletes.

"There's nothing worse than trying to maintain status quo," said Phillips, who became Clemson's 10th athletic director on July 1, 2002.

That motto has been a basic tenet that has characterized his career as an administrator and his pursuit to develop Clemson into a model athletic program in the 21st century. His beliefs are in line with the University's overall goal of making Clemson one of the top-20 public universities in the nation.

His resolve comes from a unique balance of experience in nearly every phase of college athletics, as well as a devotion to higher education that includes both a doctorate and law degree. He remains a classroom presence by teaching a Sports Law section in the Accountancy & Legal Studies department. In addition, he is chair of the NCAA Division I Infractions Appeals Committee, which serves the appellate role for all university and individual appeals arising from the Committee on Infractions.

Those influences are obvious in his strategic plan for Tiger athletics, which provides for a model program that can compete at the highest levels with academic integrity, concern for the student-athlete, financial responsibility, and in full compliance.

Steady strides have been made toward these goals through facility improvements and the development of concepts that will serve the entire program, starting with the endzone expansion. In 2006, 1,000 premium club seats will open and create a vital new revenue stream for future facilities.

Future plans call for a new comprehensive football building at Memorial Stadium. It will benefit the entire department, as it will create additional updated facilities in the McFadden Building for the Olympic sports program. A "One Clemson Center" will also be constructed to showcase the history of Clemson University, including its military and athletic heritage.

Since Phillips' arrival at Clemson, many highlights toward being a model program have occurred on the field as well, beginning with Clemson's first-ever national championship in golf in the spring of 2003, the first title for any Tiger program in 16 years.

His second year included an incredible run on the gridiron to end the season, as Tommy Bowden's Tigers defeated #3 Florida State in November and #6 Tennessee in the Peach Bowl. The football program has continued to make strides since then and ranked in the top 25 for the second time in the last three years with its #21 finish in 2005, and it is a consensus top 20 team in the preseason for 2006.

The women's tennis team was one of three programs to win ACC Championships in the same weekend in 2003-04 and advanced to the Final Four of the NCAA Tournament, the first women's athletic team in Clemson history to reach the Final Four in any postseason tournament. Nancy Harris' team duplicated the accomplishment in 2004-05, and has a string of four-straight top-20 seasons.

Excellence in academics has been a constant on his resumé. He has an undergraduate degree from Arkansas (1970), a master's from Virginia Tech (1974), a doctorate from Virginia Tech (1978), and a law degree from the Arkansas School of Law (1996). He is a member of the Arkansas Bar, American Bar Association, and the Sports Lawyers Association.

From an experience standpoint, Phillips has worked in nearly all phases of college athletics. He coached on the football staff at Virginia Tech, supervised spring sports and student-athlete enrichment at Florida, handled athletic fundraising and facility enhancement at Missouri and Arkansas, and had 15 years experience as an athletic director, including 13 at the Division I level, prior to his appointment at Clemson, coming from Oklahoma State.

Football was transformed from a perennial losing status to defeating Oklahoma during five of the eight years he was associated with Oklahoma State (1994-02). For this, he received the National Football Foundation Oklahoma Chapter Outstanding Contribution to Amateur Football Award in 2002.

When it came to success on the field and in the classroom, OSU's programs were among the Big 12's best. The achievements of the program included two national titles in men's golf, a men's basketball Final Four, two trips to the College World Series, 13 Big 12 titles, and 11 individual national champions, along with 53 academic All-Americans.

Before leading Oklahoma State, Phillips served as senior associate athletic director at Arkansas from 1988-94. He ran the daily operations and had oversight of facility projects for the men's programs, and was president of the Razorback Foundation.

Phillips was athletic director at Liberty (1980-81) and Louisiana-Lafayette (1983-88). He was also an assistant athletic director at Missouri (1981-83), and began his administrative career in 1979 as an assistant athletic director at Florida.

Phillips began his career in college athletics coaching football. He started as a graduate assistant at Arkansas from 1970-71. He moved on to Virginia Tech as an assistant coach from 1971-78 before joining the ranks of athletic administration.

Winning has been on his resumé since his playing days at Arkansas. He lettered on three Frank Broyles teams (1966,68,69). Arkansas was 27-5 in the three years and played in two Sugar Bowl games.

In addition to Phillips' leadership with the NCAA Infractions Appeals Committee, he also works with the NCAA certification program. He currently serves on several ACC Committees: Finance Committee, chair of the Committee on Infractions & Penalties, Television Committee, the Men's Basketball Committee, and the Football Committee.

Phillips has two children, John Dennis (29) and Sarah-Jane (26), and three stepchildren, Meagan (17), Marshall (15), and Madison (13). His wife Tricia is a graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, and earlier enjoyed a career in athletics and development. She is now active in the Clemson and Seneca communities.

Tommy Bowden

Head Coach

When one looks at Tommy Bowden's resumé, the first thing that comes to mind is consistency. Bowden has completed nine seasons as a Division I head coach, and all nine of his teams have been bowl eligible at the conclusion of the regular season.

Each of his last six teams have finished the season with a winning record. A winning season in 2006 would give him a Tiger coaching record seven straight winning seasons, and he would become just the fifth head coach in ACC history to record seven straight winning seasons with the same program.

Bowden has also shown consistency in terms of improvement over the course of seasons. In each of the last three years, his teams have won at least five of its last six games. The 2003 team won its last four games, including wins over top-10 Florida State and Tennessee to finish ranked in the top 25. The 2005 team won six of its last seven games, a first for a Tiger team since 1991.

There has also been consistency in terms of success against Clemson's in-state rival (South Carolina). The Tigers have won six of the seven meetings with the Gamecocks since Bowden became Clemson's head coach in 1999, and the 85.7-percent winning mark is the best of any Tiger head coach in history against the Gamecocks given a minimum of five games. He has an average victory margin of 12.3 points per game in the state-rivalry game, and all six wins have been recorded against future Hall of Fame Head Coaches Lou Holtz and Steve Spurrier.

Through nine seasons as a Division I head coach, Bowden has a 70-37 record, a 65.4-percent winning mark that is eighth-best among active coaches with at least six years of experience. In conference games, he has never had a sub-.500 record, and his overall conference record stands at 43-25 for a 63.2-percent winning percentage.

In seven years at Clemson, he has a 52-33 (.612) mark and six bowl appearances. He has 32 ACC wins as well. The only program with more ACC wins during this time is Florida State. The 52 overall victories rank third in Clemson history in total wins. The 29-7 victory over South Carolina in the 2004 season finale was not only the 600th win in Clemson history, it moved Bowden ahead of Hall of Fame Coach Jess Neely into third place on Clemson's coaching victories list. Only Frank Howard and Danny Ford are ahead of Bowden.

Bowden has tallied his record against a difficult schedule. In his first year at Clemson, the schedule was ranked in the top 10 in the nation. In 2001, his team defeated five teams that finished with a winning record, tied for the third-highest single-season figure in school history. One of the wins was a 47-44 overtime triumph at #9 Georgia Tech. It was the highest-ranked road win in 20 years for the program. In 2003 and 2004, Clemson's schedule strength once again ranked in the top 25 by the Sagarin rating. The 2005 team faced five top-25 teams in the regular season, a first in school history.

Twice Bowden has received ACC Coach-of-the-Year honors (1999,03), joining Howard, Charley Pell, and Ford as the only two-time recipients of that award in Clemson football history. In January of 2006, he was given the Grant Teaff National Coach-of-the-Year Award by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Off the field, Clemson has graduated nearly 80 percent of its seniors in his seven years. Clemson's graduation success rate of 94 percent in 2005 was fourth-best among the 119 Division I programs. In 2003, Clemson was 11th in the nation, including second among public schools, in the NCAA graduation-rate study for scholarship football signees who entered Clemson in 1996. Clemson was first in the nation in graduation rate among African-Americans (100 percent). Each of the top-six semester team GPAs have been recorded under Bowden.

In 2005, Clemson had a record of 8-4, including a 3-2 mark against top-25 ranked teams. All four of the losses were by six points or less and by a total of 14 points. Two of those losses came in overtime, therefore the Tigers lost the four games by a combined five points at the end of regulation.

The 2005 team also won six of its last seven games, including a 19-10 win over Colorado in the Champs Sports Bowl. Clemson had the best record among the 12 ACC teams over that time period.

Clemson finished in the top 25 in four national defensive rankings, including 11th in scoring defense. After the victory over Colorado in the Champs

Wide receiver at West Virginia (1973-76).

Bowl Participation as a Player

1975 Peach Bowl.

Education

B.S. degree in physical education with a minor in health from West Virginia in 1977.

Head Coaching Record

70-37 (65.4-percent winning mark) in nine seasons...18-4 in two seasons at Tulane...52-33 in his seven seasons at Clemson.

Personal Data

Born July 10, 1954...married to the former Linda Joan White...the couple has a son (Ryan 24, a 2004 Clemson graduate and current law student at Regent University) and a daughter (Lauren 21, a senior at Clemson).

Sports Bowl, the Tigers were ranked #21 in the final Associated Press and USA Today polls. Clemson had three wins over top-20 ranked teams, the most in one season by a Tiger team since 1989.

In four years at Clemson, Charlie Whitehurst became the most prolific signal-caller in school history. He set 46 Tiger records, including records for passing yards (9,665), completions (817), completion percentage (59.5), and touchdown passes (49). He directed Clemson to 25 wins as a starting quarterback, the second-most wins in school history.

Consistency in his approach is one reason Clemson went from a 1-4 start to bowl eligibility in 2004. It was the first time since 1963 that a Tiger team had overcome such a deficit to finish with a winning record.

Clemson played a complete game at #10 Miami (FL) on November 6, 2004 and defeated the Hurricanes in the Orange Bowl 24-17 in overtime. It was the second overtime win of the year for the Tigers, who are 4-2 in extra-session games under Bowden.

The win over Miami gave Bowden and the Tigers three wins over top-10 programs in a 13-game span, something that had been done at Clemson just once previously (1981 National Championship team). All three of those programs (Florida State, Tennessee, Miami) have won the national championship within the last eight seasons.

Over the last three seasons, Bowden has won seven games over coaches who have won the national title (Bobby Bowden (twice), Phillip Fulmer, Larry Coker, Holtz (twice), and Spurrier). These big wins have stimulated interest in the program. The Tigers averaged over 78,000 fans per home game in 2005. Clemson has been in the top 20 in home attendance each of his seven years at Clemson, and five of the top-nine average figures have come in his tenure.

With Clemson's selection to the 2004 Peach Bowl, Bowden became the first head coach in Clemson and ACC history to take a team to a bowl game in each of his first five seasons. In fact, no coach had ever done so more than twice to open his career at Clemson.

Tommy Bowden

The 2004 Peach Bowl appearance meant that it was the first time since the senior class of 1991 that Clemson went to a bowl game five straight years. Clemson's red-shirt seniors of 2003 were the first group he recruited, so it is an indication of the firm foundation his first group set. In December of 2003, Bowden cemented his place at Clemson by signing a seven-year contract, which will go through 2010.

The 2003 season was a breakthrough year in many ways. Clemson earned its highest-ever win over a ranked team with a 26-10 victory over #3 Florida State. The Tigers also defeated #24 Virginia in a thrilling overtime game. The 39-3 win over a bowl-bound Georgia Tech team was Clemson's largest victory margin in the series since 1900 as well.

The 2003 victory over Florida State, Clemson's first in 12 tries since the Seminoles joined the ACC, was the beginning of a four-game winning streak to close the season. In those four games, Clemson outscored its opponents 156-48, an average score of 39-12. Clemson defeated arch-rival South Carolina in Columbia 63-17. It was the most points ever scored by a team in the 101-game series and the Tigers' largest win margin in the series since 1900.

The season concluded with a 27-14 win over #6 Tennessee, the highest-ranked team Clemson has defeated in a bowl game since 1981, when the Tigers defeated #4 Nebraska in the Orange Bowl to claim the national championship. As a result, Clemson finished the season with nine wins and a #22 final national ranking.

The 2002 season included victories over bowl teams Georgia Tech and Wake Forest, and a third victory in four years over arch-rival South Carolina. Clemson gained 434 yards of total offense in the 27-20 win over the Gamecocks, the most yards against Holtz's defense all season.

Clemson had another record-setting season in 2001, a season that culminated with a Humanitarian Bowl victory over Louisiana Tech. Clemson set school records for points scored, touchdowns, and total offense in a bowl game in the victory.

When Bowden came to Clemson in 1998, he inherited a team with a 3-8 record. By late October of 2000, just 14 months after his first game, Clemson was ranked third in the nation in the USA Today poll after an 8-0 start. That ranking was the highest for the program in 16 years. The final #14 ranking in that same poll was the highest final listing for the program since the 1990 season.

In 2000 and 2001, his dynamic offense produced a Heisman Trophy contender in quarterback Woodrow Dantzler, who placed his name next to 52 school records. In 2001, he became the first quarterback in Division I history to total 2,000 yards passing and 1,000 yards rushing in a single season.

When Bowden came to Clemson, he had one simple goal - improvement. Bowden warned Clemson supporters that the Tigers were unlikely to be bowl participants in 1999, but his main focus was to improve. Bowden's goal of improvement was reached and he was happy to be wrong about his preseason prediction, as the Tigers were invited to the 1999 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

In 1999, Bowden accomplished a personal milestone that no Clemson coach had attained since 1981, the year the Tigers won the National Championship. He became the first Clemson coach since Danny Ford to be named ACC Coach-of-the-Year.

Making strong improvement in his first year with a program was nothing new for Bowden. In the two seasons he was the head coach at Tulane, Bowden took a team that had been 4-18 in the two years previous to his arrival, and emotionally and numerically reversed the team's fortunes with an 18-4 record, posted an 11-1 conference mark, and finished the 1998 season ranked #7 in the nation by both polls. Tulane and Tennessee were the only undefeated teams in college football in 1998.

The Green Wave scored 40 or more points in eight games in 1998, including each of the last seven games. In one game, the Green Wave scored 72 points and rolled up 704 yards of total offense. They converted 52 percent of their third-down opportunities for the season and had just 11 turnovers in over 800 plays. The 1998 season saw the program post a perfect 11-0 regular season under Bowden, its first perfect regular season since 1931. The Green Wave won Conference USA, its first league title since Tulane won the SEC in 1949. Bowden was named Conference USA Coach-of-the-Year.

A look to the list of coaches who had undefeated seasons in the 1990s shows two other men named Bowden. His father, Florida State Head Coach Bobby Bowden, had a perfect regular season in 1996 and 1999, while his brother, Terry, posted a perfect regular season in 1993. Obviously, the Bowdens are the first family of college coaching and this "Wonder Years" environment had a lot to do with Tommy Bowden's decision to enter coaching.

Tommy Bowden began his college football experience as a walk-on wide receiver at West Virginia. He played for his father between 1973-75 and then for Frank Cignetti during the 1976 season.

Tommy Bowden has kept Clemson pointed in the right direction since becoming the Tigers' 24th head football coach in 1999.

As a junior, he caught 15 passes for 189 yards and one score. Bowden remained at West Virginia for the 1977 season and began his coaching career, serving as a graduate assistant on Cignetti's staff. His interest in coaching only became more intense after that first year as a graduate assistant. His father then hired him as a secondary coach at Florida State for the 1978 season.

In 1980, Bowden joined the East Carolina staff, where he coached during spring practice in 1980. That spring, he moved to Auburn and served as the Tigers' running backs coach for the 1980 season.

In 1981, Bowden returned to Tallahassee as the tight ends coach. In two more years at Florida State, the Seminoles posted a 15-8 mark. The 1982 team ranked #13 in the final poll, claimed a 9-3 record, and won a Gator Bowl championship.

From 1983-86, Bowden served under Steve Sloan at Duke as the quarterbacks coach, and was named coordinator in 1985. In 1984, he made his first trip to Death Valley as a coach. Among the players he tutored was future NFL player Anthony Dilweg.

After four years at Duke, Bowden became the wide receivers coach at Alabama under Bill Curry. It was there that Bowden refined his offensive coaching prowess under noted offensive mind Homer Smith, then the Tide offensive coordinator.

In 1990, Bowden returned to a coordinator role, serving as Kentucky's offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach. That year, he helped the Wildcats to their first upper division SEC finish since 1984.

In 1991, Bowden joined Pat Dye at Auburn. He remained with Auburn for six years, his longest stint as an assistant. Auburn had a combined record of 46-20-2, including a perfect 11-0 season in 1993.

Born on July 10, 1954 in Birmingham, AL, Bowden is married to the former Linda Joan White, who he first met when the two were in school together at Morgantown (WV) High. The couple has two children, Ryan (24), a 2004 Clemson graduate and currently a law student at Regent University, and Lauren (21), a senior at Clemson.

Memorial Stadium

"Death Valley"

Clemson Memorial Stadium has been held in high esteem for many years. Whether it be players from the 1940s and 1950s, opposing players from the 1970s and 1980s, or even professional players in the 1990s, the ambiance of this special setting is what college football is all about.

The storied edifice added to its legend when the first meeting of father and son head coaches (Bowden Bowl I) took place before a sellout crowd of more than 86,000 fans in 1999. Clemson has ranked in the top 20 in the nation in attendance 25 straight seasons. In 2005, the streak continued when Clemson averaged 78,232 fans per game.

The facility's mystique is derived from its many traditions, which date to its opening in 1942, the legendary games and players, and Clemson's corresponding rate of success. Clemson has won 231 games in 64 years there and has won over 70 percent of the contests (231-90-7). Forty times since 1983, a crowd has exceeded 80,000.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before Head Coach Jess Neely left for Rice after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message.

"Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the YMCA. That's all you'll ever need".

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing-there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work, clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally on September 19, 1942, Memorial Stadium opened with Clemson thrashing Presbyterian 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, the boy was swollen twice his size and was hospitalized.

There are many other stories about the stadium, including one that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner as the concrete poured.

Howard said that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he said. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through."

"I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard said that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and in 1960, 5,658 west endzone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large endzone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side as crowds swelled - the first in 1978 and the second in '83. This increased capacity to over 80,000, which makes it one of the largest on-campus stadiums.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000 or at $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged by the late Presbyterian Coach Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, he said the place was like "Death Valley."

A few years later the name stuck.

In 1974, the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

Running Down The Hill

"The Most Exciting 25 Seconds in College Football"

2006 CLEMSON FOOTBALL

What has been described as, "the most exciting 25 seconds in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint," actually started out as a matter-of-fact entrance, mainly because of necessity.

The first 20,000 seats in Memorial Stadium were built and ready for use before the 1942 season, less than a year after Pearl Harbor was bombed and the United States was drawn into World War II.

The shortest entry into the stadium was a short walk down Williamson Road from Fike Fieldhouse's dressing rooms to a gate at the top of the Hill, which is located behind the east endzone. There were no dressing facilities in the west endzone - there was only a big clock where the hands turned and a scoreboard, which was operated by hand.

The team would dress at Fike, walk down Williamson Road, come in the gate underneath where the scoreboard now stands and jog down the Hill for its warm-up exercises. There was no fanfare, no cannon shot fired, no Tiger Paw flag, no Tiger Rag played...just the team making its entrance and lining up to do the side-straddle hop.

That is pretty much the way things went for the next 25 years.

Either in 1964 or 1965, S.C. Jones, a member of the class of 1919, made a trip to California. He stopped at a spot in Death Valley, CA and picked up this white flint rock. He presented it to Head Coach Frank Howard as being from Death Valley, California to Death Valley, South Carolina."

The rock laid on the floor in Howard's office in Fike Fieldhouse for years. One day, he was cleaning up his office and he told Gene Willimon, who was executive secretary of IPTAY, to "take this rock and throw it over the fence, or out in the ditch...do something with it, but get it out of my office!"

Willimon did not think that was the way a rock should be treated. After all, it had been brought 3,000 miles by a very sincere Tiger fan.

By the mid-1960s, Memorial Stadium was living up to its moniker, Death Valley, because of the number of victories that had been recorded there. Actually, the name was first used by the late Lonnie McMillian, head coach at Presbyterian College in Clinton in the 1940s.

McMillian and the other Blue Hose coaches before him used to open each season by coming to Clemson. Seldom scoring (24 shutouts in 39 games) and with only three victories and four ties to show for it, his teams were getting "killed" by the Tigers regularly. In 1948, McMillian made the comment to the press that he was taking his team to play Clemson in Death Valley.

An occasional reference to Memorial Stadium as "Death Valley" could be heard for the next few years, but when Howard started calling it "Death Valley" in the 1950s, the name took off like wildfire. The Tigers celebrated the 50th year in the "Valley" in 2001.

Running Down The Hill

"The Most Exciting 25 Seconds in College Football"

2006 CLEMSON FOOTBALL

But getting back to Howard's Rock.

The rock was mounted on a pedestal at the top of the Hill. It was unveiled September 24, 1966 on a day when Clemson played Virginia. The Tigers were down 18 points with 17 minutes to play and came back to win (40-35) on a 65-yard pass play from Jimmy Addison to Jacky Jackson in the fourth quarter. That was quite a spectacular debut for that rock.

The team members started rubbing the rock prior to running down the Hill on September 23, 1967, a day when Clemson defeated Wake Forest by a score of 23-6.

Prior to running down the Hill that day, Howard told his players, "If you're going to give me 110 percent, you can rub that rock. If you're not, keep your filthy hands off it."

Howard told of the incident the next day on his Sunday television show and the story became legend.

When Hootie Ingram succeeded Howard as head coach prior to the 1970 season, Ingram decided that the team would make its final entrance on the field out of the dressing room in the west endzone. In all home games in 1970 and 1971, and the first four games of 1972 when the Tigers did not run down the Hill, their combined record was 6-9. The team decided it wanted to come down the Hill once prior to the South Carolina game in 1972. The result, in a cold, freezing rain, was a 7-6 victory when Jimmy Williamson knocked down a two-point conversion attempt, which preserved the win.

The Tigers have made the entrance for every home game since 1942, except for the seasons mentioned above - 313 times heading into the 2006 season.

After final warmups, the team goes back into its dressing room under the west endzone stands for final game instructions. About 10 minutes before kickoff, the team boards two buses, rides around behind the north stands to the east endzone, and disembarks to the top of the Hill behind Howard's Rock.

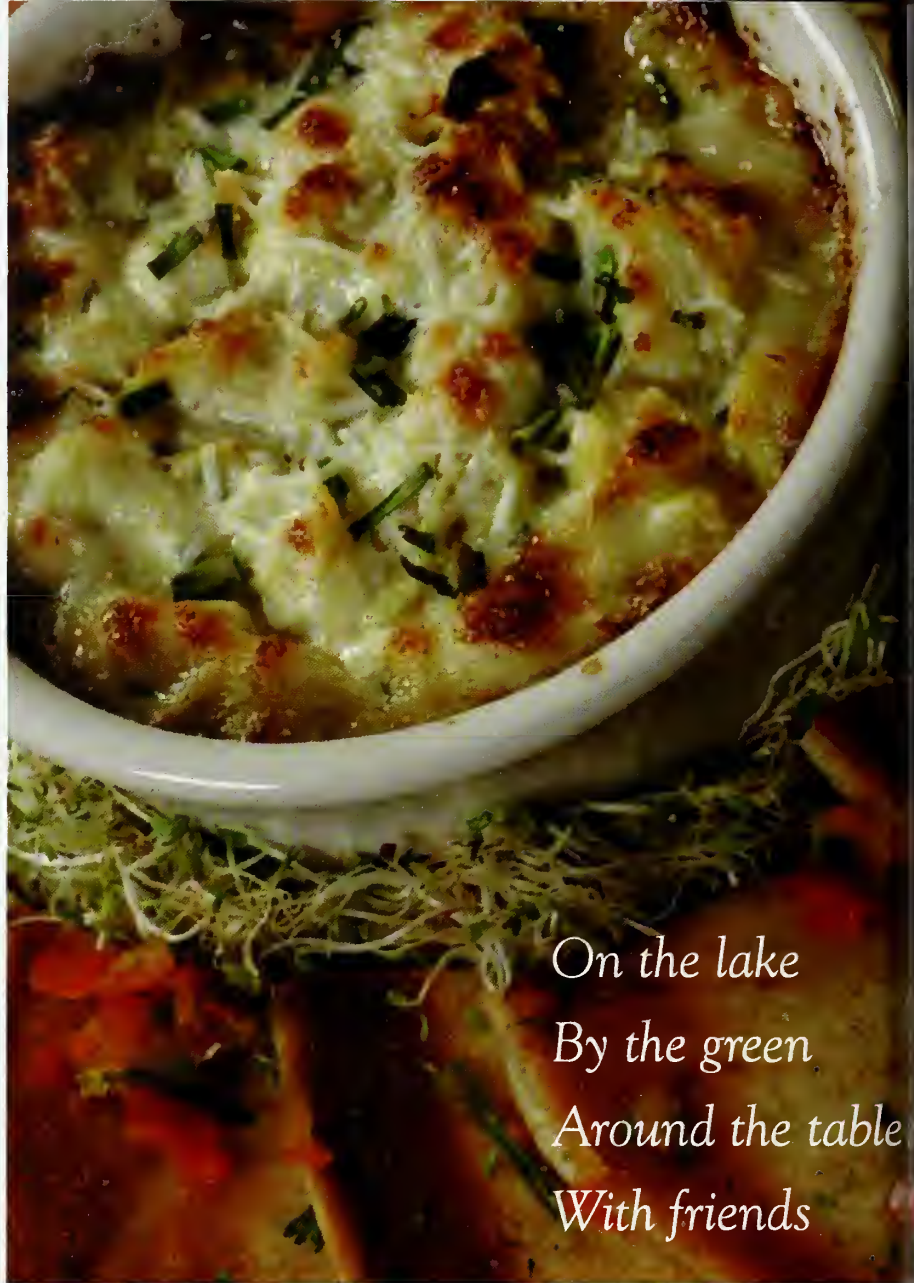

At the appointed time, the cannon booms and led by a high-flying Tiger Paw flag, the band forms two lines for the team to run between and strikes up "Tiger Rag"...the frenzy starts in all sincerity and usually lasts for three hours.

It is a tradition that has inspired Clemson players for many years.

"The Rock has strange powers. When you rub it, and run down the Hill, the adrenaline flows. It's the most emotional experience I've ever had."
Six-time All-Pro and former Tiger All-American Michael Dean Perry

IPTAY SCHOLARSHIP FUND
MAKE YOUR CONTRIBUTION TODAY!

2007

For 73 years, IPTAY has been the lifeblood of Tiger Athletics – transforming Clemson University from a regional presence to a national power – and providing a model of success for other educational systems to follow. Our Mission is no different today than it was 73 years ago when IPTAY was created.

The Four Priorities of the IPTAY Scholarship Fund

1. The payment of the annual cost of athletic scholarships.
2. The payment or reimbursement of the operating expenses of IPTAY.
3. The establishment and maintenance of an adequate reserve fund deemed appropriate by the IPTAY Board of Directors.
4. Any expenditure other than those established under the previous three priorities, shall be limited to either direct or indirect aids to the athletic program of Clemson University and must be approved by the IPTAY Board of Directors.

Please note that by making your contribution to IPTAY, You agree to abide by all NCAA regulations.

Minimum Priority Contribution is $140. Contributions of any amount to the IPTAY Scholarship Fund are welcome.

The Clemson Tiger Sports Network supplies Tiger fans with a full day of broadcast each football Saturday. Each broadcast day has three programs, "Tiger Tailgate Show," "Game Day Broadcast," and the "Fifth Quarter Show."

A tradition since the 1970s, the "Tiger Tailgate Show" is a two-hour entertainment and interactive program. It is produced on the lawn of Littlejohn Coliseum (at the corner) closest to Death Valley.

The program begins three hours prior to kickoff. Bubba Britton, Marsha Byers, Duane Evans, Ben Milstead, Don Munson, and Whitney Walters will host the show. It is the gathering place on gameday. Interviews with former players, games, display items, and excitement are all part of the show.

Broadcast Team

Pete Yanity

Play-By-Play Announcer

- Named the play-by-play announcer after the sudden passing of Jim Phillips on September 9, 2003. Phillips was the Voice of the Tigers for 36 years.
- In his fifth year with the network.

He served as sideline commentator during the 2002 season.

- Other duties include being sports director at WSPA-TV (Spartanburg/Greenville) since 1990, sideline work on the Panthers' preseason television network, and play-by-play and color analysis on selected games on Comcast/Charter Sports Southeast.
- 1985 graduate of Ohio University.
- Married to wife Kelly. The couple has two children, Paige and Trey.

Will Merritt

Color Commentator

- In his fifth year and third as color commentator.
- Worked the pregame and postgame shows in 2002, his first fall out of school.
- Provided color commentary on tape-delay broadcasts of selected

Clemson games in 2002.

- Host of "The Morning Drive," a sports talk show that airs from 6:00 AM to 9:00 AM each morning on WCCP (104.9 FM) in Clemson.
- Second-Team All-ACC guard at Clemson in 2000-01.
- Member of All-ACC Academic team for three seasons.
- 2000 graduate of Clemson University.
- Married to wife Melissa. The couple has a daughter, Reagan.

Chad Carson

Sideline Commentator

- In his third full year as sideline commentator. Provided that role in 2003 for the South Carolina game that ended the regular season and the Peach Bowl, and all of 2004 and 2005.
- Three-time academic All-American as a linebacker (1999-01). Earned Second-Team All-ACC honors in 2001. One of only two three-time Academic All-Americans in Clemson football history.
- Finalist for a Rhodes Scholarship in 2001, the only Division I scholarship football player who made the final top 100. He was also the recipient of a 2001 Weaver-James-Corrigan Scholarship from the ACC.
- Clemson's top tackler in both 2000 and 2001, as he ended his career fourth in Tiger history in tackles (448). He started every game (36) his final three seasons.
- Works in real estate in the Upstate of South Carolina.

The game broadcast is anchored by Pete Yanity. The sports director at WSPA-TV in Spartanburg, SC took over in September, 2003 after the passing of Jim Phillips, who had been the longtime voice of the Tigers since 1968. Yanity has been a part of the broadcast team since 2001 as the host of the pregame, halftime, and postgame shows, and as the sideline reporter during games.

Yanity has been the sports director at WSPA-TV in Spartanburg the last 16 years. He has also been a sideline analyst for 10 years on Carolina Panther preseason football games and has considerable play-by-play experience for Comcast Sports Southeast, covering various college events, including Tiger football and baseball. Yanity is also the voice of Tiger basketball and the host of the Tommy Bowden and Oliver Purnell Television Shows.

Joining Yanity in the booth is former Clemson offensive lineman Will Merritt, who played for the Tigers from 1998-01. He was a starter in 2000 and 2001 when he was named Second-Team All-ACC.

Merritt worked on the Clemson radio network pregame and postgame shows during the 2002 season. He also provided color commentary on the television tape-delay broadcasts of selected 2002 games. In 2003, he became the color analyst of the gameday broadcasts. The native of Easley, SC is the host of "The Morning Drive," a sports talk show that airs each morning on WCCP (104.9 FM) in Clemson.

Former Clemson Academic All-American linebacker Chad Carson completes the broadcast team as the sideline commentator. Carson served in that capacity for the final two games of 2003, and all of 2004 and 2005. Carson is fourth in Clemson history in career tackles and was a starter on Tommy Bowden's first three Tiger teams.

As has been the case in the past, the gameday broadcast begins with the Tommy Bowden Pregame Show. Bowden meets with Sports Information Director Tim Bourret to provide Clemson fans with the latest lineup and strategy information. Yanity and Merritt also provide a last-minute scene-setter that includes the latest lineup and weather information.

After the game, fans can tune into the "Fifth Quarter Show," hosted by Ralph Patterson and Munson, or attend the show live from the Wild Wing Cafe in downtown Greenville, SC. Interviews with Coach Bowden and Assistant Coaches Rob Spence and Vic Koenning are also included. An added feature includes locker room interviews with Clemson's top players that day. A rundown of the game stats and audio highlights are provided.

Fans can follow the Tigers by listening to "Tiger Calls" each Thursday evening with Bowden and Don Munson from 7:00 PM to 8:00 PM. The shows will air live from several Ingles grocery stores in the Clemson area.

The Clemson Tiger Sports Network also produces the Tommy Bowden Television Show, a recap of the previous game's highlights. Yanity serves as the host of this program that gives fans insight

Remembering 1981 Tiger Lettermen

25th Anniversary of the 1981 National Championship Team

2006 CLEMSON FOOTBALL

By Tim Bourret

In celebration of the 25th anniversary of Clemson's 1981 National Championship season, we will recall the careers of all the lettermen for the Tigers that season. We will go through the list in alphabetical order, 10 players at a time, as we progress through the season.

#89 Kendall Alley • WR

If Kendall Alley played for the Tigers today, he would probably catch 30 passes a season. But in the early 1980s, it was a different era of college football. Alley caught 16 passes for his entire Tiger career in 30 games.

But, he was clutch when needed, and he was needed in the 1981 win over Georgia. The sophomore was called upon to replace an injured Jerry Gaillard, and he caught two passes for 31 yards that help set up a field goal in Clemson's 13-3 victory.

Alley had nine catches in 1982 when he was third on the team in receptions. He has gone on to a successful business career and is now a regional president of Wachovia Bank in Greenville, SC.

#69 Vernie Anthony • MG

Vernie Anthony was a reserve defensive lineman as a junior on the 1981 National Championship team. He played in nine of the 12 games on defense and special teams that season as a reserve behind Dan Benish and Ray Brown.

The fact that he got on the field on defense was an accomplishment, because he had just moved from the offensive line in the spring of 1981.

Anthony went on to start in two games as a senior in 1982 when Benish was injured. He had 14 tackles on the 9-1-1 team of 1982, including a sack.

Anthony has been successful in the business world since his graduation, working for IBM, then BMW in Greenville, SC. He recently opened his own real-estate company in Powdersville, SC.

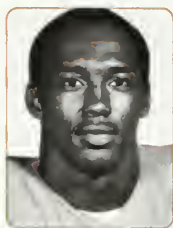

#1 Vandell Arrington • CB

Vandell Arrington was a backup cornerback to Hollis Hall during the 1981 season. He played in all 12 games on special teams, and was especially effective in kick coverage. His best game that year came in the Orange Bowl when he was in on a season-high three tackles.

Arrington gave Clemson one of its best athletes in history. His daughter Deliah was the 2002 ACC Women's Soccer Player-of-the-Year, and was a three-time, First-Team All-ACC performer.

Arrington has gone into the ministry since his playing days ended, and he currently lives in Pawley's Island, SC. He will be the minister for the marriage ceremony of former Clemson Assistant Sports Information Director Annabelle Vaughan to former N.C. State basketball player Ernie Myers on October 7 in Montreat, NC.

#7 Cliff Austin • TB

Cliff Austin holds the distinction of scoring a touchdown in two of Clemson's most noteworthy bowl wins in history. As a freshman, he scored what proved to be the winning touchdown against Ohio State in a Gator Bowl win.

He then scored Clemson's only rushing touchdown against Nebraska in the Orange Bowl in Clemson's 22-15 victory. That was quite a day for Austin, because earlier in the afternoon he was stuck in an elevator at the team hotel for two hours.

Austin was the top rusher on the 1981 team with 824 yards, and he scored a team-best nine touchdowns. He ended his career with 2,139 yards.

The native of Scottsdale, GA went on to play 58 games over five years in the NFL.

#71 Dan Benish • DT

Dan Benish was a starting defensive tackle and First-Team All-ACC player as a junior on the 1981 team. He finished the year fifth on the squad in tackles (67) and tied for second in tackles for loss (10). Only Jeff Bryant had more tackles for loss than Benish on the 1981 team.

The Hubbard, OH native had one of his top games in the Orange Bowl when he had eight tackles, third-best among Tigers that night.

The four-year letterman signed with the Atlanta Falcons as a free agent after his senior season, and went on to play four years with the Falcons (1983-86) and two more with the Washington Redskins. He played 55 games in his NFL career. He was a member of the Redskin team during the 1987 season when it won the Super Bowl.

#63 Tony Berryhill • C

Tony Berryhill was the First-Team All-ACC center for the Tigers in 1981, his senior season. He was the workhorse of the offensive line, as he played more snaps than any other offensive lineman. He played his best game against Georgia and All-America defensive lineman Eddie "Meat Cleaver" Weaver. He earned a 76-percent grade from the line coaches for that game, best among the Tiger offensive linemen.

Berryhill started every game in the National Championship season, and started each of the last 20 games of his career. Berryhill now works in Georgia for the Turkey Creek Snacks Corporation.

#18 Bo Blanton • QB

Bo Blanton earned a letter in 1981, but did not appear in a game due to injury. He served as a student assistant coach, helping with the quarterbacks. He earned two letters as a backup quarterback and holder. He came to Clemson as a wide receiver, then moved to quarterback.

Blanton had helped Summerville (SC) High School to three state titles during his career under noted Head Coach John McKissick, who has helped lead young men to Clemson for many years. Dustin Fry, the starting center on this year's Tiger team, also played for McKissick in high school.

Blanton returned home to Summerville after graduation as a teacher, and works for the board of education in that school district.

#58 David Bounds • OT

Like Blanton, David Bounds earned a letter in 1981, but never appeared in a game. An offensive tackle by trade, Bounds suffered a back injury prior to his final season and became a student assistant coach under Danny Ford.

Bounds returned to Clemson as a graduate assistant coach. Ironically, Blanton and Bounds had been teammates at Summerville High School under McKissick, the winningest coach in the nation's history of high school football. But, both were unable to play in 1981.

Bounds went into athletic administration at Southern Mississippi after his graduate coaching tenure at Clemson.

#57 Nick Bowman • DE

Nick Bowman was a 6'2", 200-pound walk-on defensive end from Tennessee. He played four games as a senior in 1981, seeing time on defense against Wofford, Virginia, Duke, and Wake Forest. Bowman came to Clemson from Crossville, TN, and was one of just three players from the Volunteer state on the Tiger roster that year. He lettered in 1979, 80, 81, one of the few walk-ons of the era to letter three times.

Bowman has gone on to success in the building construction industry in Greenville, SC.

#8 Lockie Brown • PK

Brown was a reserve punter and placekicker on the 1981 team. One of five players named Brown on that squad, Lockie finally got into a game in the celebrated 82-24 win over Wake Forest. Brown attempted the extra point on each of Clemson's last five touchdowns, making three. Those were his only three points as a Tiger.

Joseph Lockwood Brown III came to Clemson from Charleston, SC and Tucker High School, where he lettered in three different sports, including gymnastics. He is the only member of the 1981 team who lettered in gymnastics in high school.

When Brown came to Clemson in August of 1978, he said on his sports information questionnaire that he planned to study architecture. Today, Brown is a partner with Milton Pate Architects in Atlanta, GA.

Tim Bourret is Clemson's Sports Information Director and is in his 29th year at Clemson.

IF YOU'RE GOING TO TAILGATE

GO PRO.

The wait is over. The 2006 Clemson football season is officially here, and what better way to kickoff the year than with a party tray of our World Famous Calabash Chicken.™ So while this may be college football at its best, you can still tailgate like a professional.

Please call ahead for tailgate orders.

Vicki Ford has always dreamed big. As a student she earned a prestigious NSF Graduate Fellowship, and when she graduated Vicki went on to work for Walter P Moore, a firm consistently recognized for engineering excellence and ranked among the "best places to work" in the nation.

This year, seven of that company's new structural engineers came from Clemson University. The company typically hires 30 structural engineers each year and recruits from 20 select universities around the country.

"We look for three things: outstanding technical skills, the poise and confidence to work well with our clients and demonstrated leadership skills," says Cindy Moss, Walter P Moore recruiting manager. "Clemson students do very well here."

Clemson students are in demand.

- 1,400 companies recruit Clemson students; 215 of those are Fortune 500 companies.
- Clemson co-op students have over a 90 percent placement rate.
- Clemson students are consistently a top choice for employers, according to a national survey.

Driving the future.

Mission Statement

The Department of Athletics offers nationally prominent athletic programs. Through a dedicated commitment to educational interests, a competitive athletic program, and integrity in all areas, the student-athletes, coaches, and staff strive to bring credit and recognition to Clemson University.

The mission of the Athletic Department is to sponsor a broad-based athletic program that provides educational and athletic opportunities for young men and women to grow, develop, and serve the interests of Clemson University by complementing and enhancing its diversity and quality of life.

Furthermore, the Athletic Department seeks to be a source of pride for the citizens of the State of South Carolina and to be recognized as a nationally prominent program, through consistently high levels of performance and accomplishment in athletic competitions.

The Athletic Department strives to develop student-athletes academically and athletically with the total commitment of aiding their efforts to graduate from Clemson University and advance to careers that will enable them to be productive members of society.

The Athletic Department will act in an ethical and honest manner, dedicated to compliance with all Federal, State, NCAA, Conference, and University rules and regulations.

Important NCAA Terms

Academic Credentials - A prospect should check with his high school guidance office to see if he is taking classes that will meet NCAA eligibility standards. A prospect should do this early - prior to his sophomore year - and keep track of core courses. A prospect will need to take either the ACT or SAT for NCAA certification.

Contact - NCAA rules define a contact as a face-to-face interaction with a prospect and/or his parents off Clemson's campus by a coach. The NCAA sets a contact period for football prospects from late November through the end of January. That is the only time coaches can meet with a prospect away from the Clemson campus.

Core Courses - Courses at a prospect's high school that are considered college preparatory. For the class entering Clemson in 2006 and 2007, 14 core courses are required, including four in English, two in math, two in science, one additional from English, math, or science, two social sciences, and three additional courses. For the class entering Clemson in 2008, 16 core courses are required, including four in English, three in math, two in science, one additional from English, math, or science, two social sciences, and four additional courses. A high school prospect's guidance counselor will have a list of the school's core courses, or you can visit the NCAA Clearinghouse's website at NCAAClearinghouse.net for more information.

Dead Period - Recruiting period when coaches may not have face-to-face contact with prospects on or off campus. Coaches may continue to telephone and write a prospect.

Evaluation - In April and May of a prospect's junior year, coaches will come to a prospect's high school, and review his athletic and academic credentials with his coach. In the fall, they may watch a prospect compete one time, but they will not have any contact.

Home Visit - During the contact period, a senior prospect may invite college coaches to his home to meet his parents, and to talk in detail about the football program and academic offerings at any college the prospect is considering.

Receiving Mail - Prior to September 1 of a prospect's junior year, NCAA rules allow Clemson to mail a questionnaire, NCAA educational information, and a summer-camp brochure to a prospect. After September 1 of the prospect's junior year, coaches can provide a prospect with the following: personalized letters, media guide and copies of newspaper articles, instant messages and text messages. A prospect can receive a football game program when he visits the Clemson University campus.

Recruiting - A term used to describe the process of acquainting a prospect with a college and the coaches of that college, who are striving to learn more about a prospect. Only coaches can recruit - no one else is permitted to persuade a prospect to play sports at a particular college.

Prospect - Any student who has entered the ninth grade. Once a person becomes a prospect, NCAA rules define how college coaches can interact with that prospect.

Standardized Test - A prospect must take the SAT or ACT before enrolling in college full-time. A prospect may take the SAT or ACT more than once and use the best subscore from different tests to achieve the highest score. Both Clemson and the NCAA Clearinghouse require scores to be reported directly from the testing agency. When registering for the test, list the Clearinghouse Code (9999) and Clemson (511 (SAT), 3842 (ACT)). Clemson University admissions requires students to present either an SAT or ACT writing score. The writing score will not be used to determine a prospect's qualifier status.

Telephone - Clemson football coaches can call a prospect once in May of the prospect's junior year. After September 1 of a prospect's senior year, a coach can call a prospect once a week. A prospect can expect unlimited calls during the contact period, before his official visit and once the prospect has signed a National Letter of Intent.

Frequently Asked Questions

- Are a prospect's parents invited for an official visit? Yes. NCAA rules allow a school to provide lodging and meals for parents or legal guardians who accompany their child. However, NCAA rules do not allow schools to provide transportation for parents unless they drive with their son.
- Can a prospect visit Clemson anytime during his high school career? Yes. A prospect can have his high school coach call Tiger coaches to set up an unofficial visit. He can attend a football game and talk with Tiger coaches, and it does not count as a contact when it is on Clemson's campus. There are times a prospect cannot visit - NCAA rules refer to them as "dead periods," and coaches will not schedule to meet with a prospect during that time period.
- Can IPTAY members help recruit me? No. NCAA rules are clear; only Clemson coaches can telephone, contact, and evaluate a prospect. Only college coaches can offer unofficial/official visits.
- Is the prospect's high school coach invited for an official visit? NCAA rules are such that high school coaches may not be provided any expenses for official visits.
- What is a National Letter of Intent (NLI)? It is a contract; a prospect and his parents sign a promise that the prospect will attend a particular college. In return, that college promises a prospect financial aid. A prospect signs it during his senior year (in February for football). Once the prospect signs it, he cannot be recruited by any other institution, and it is a binding contract for the prospect's first year in college at the school that provides the national letter of intent.
- What is an official visit? A prospect can take a total of five official visits (one per institute), which are expense-paid. Before the visit, the prospect must present a high school transcript, proof of an SAT, ACT, PACT, or PSAT test, and be registered with the NCAA Clearinghouse. Official visit invitations are extended by Tiger coaches only. Official visits may not occur prior to the first day of class of the prospect's senior year in high school.
- What is the NCAA Clearinghouse? It is the agency that certifies a prospect's eligibility for NCAA Division I and Division II. A prospect should register with the NCAA Clearinghouse at the end of his junior year in high school. Applications are available in the prospect's guidance office or online at www.NCAAClearinghouse.net. Cost is $50.

Our Student-Athletes:

- are able to communicate with peers and adults.
- are exposed to the best in academic support.
- understand that they are expected to perform at their highest level in the classroom and on the playing field.
- understand that they are obligated to follow rules, train for championships, and receive their undergraduate degrees.
- realize that in exchange for their participation in intercollegiate athletics, they receive a college education, a network of support, and life-long relationships.

Since its inception in 1991, the five-faceted Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs have provided student-athletes a continued commitment to excellence. Our approach is to address the total person, and we are committed to coaching all of our student-athletes to success, not only in the athletic arena, but in the academic, personal growth, career, and community service arenas as well. We provide opportunities and services to address the changing needs and skills of student-athletes during college and after graduation.

Vickery Hall is a $3-million structure that is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other Clemson University facilities. The importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson athletic department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the fall of 1991 and was the first facility in the country constructed solely for the all-around academic support of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000 square-foot building is open all day and into the evening hours to accommodate student-athletes' extended schedules. It is a vital reason why the number of student-athletes on the ACC and Clemson Academic Honor Rolls has continued to grow since its opening.

Our programs are dedicated to providing a holistic, educational experience by inspiring an environment of respect, integrity, and excellence.

Through our services, we guide and encourage each individual to reach his or her full potential as a student, as an athlete, and as a citizen.

Vickery Hall Values

We believe that you can win ACC and National Championships with men and women who strive for academic and athletic excellence, and who share values of honesty, open communication, fairness, balance in their personal life, integrity, life-long learning, accountability, and commitment.

Vickery Hall Staff Members:

- are honest in their dealings with athletes, coaches, parents and administrators.
- are technically sound in their approach to advising.
- are committed to developing expertise that is recognized nationally.
- are committed to helping each other meet the challenges of motivating student-athletes toward their best academic efforts.
- are known for treating athletes consistently and with concern for their future.
- are chosen for Clemson and demonstrate a commitment to decision-making that is in the best interest of Clemson.
- are committed to retention, graduation, and life-long connection for student-athletes.

Vickery Hall Facts

- Named in honor of Dean Kenneth Vickery, longtime Clemson Faculty Athletic Representative
- Located in the heart of Clemson's campus
- Built around the five CHAMPS commitments - academic, athletic, personal growth, community service, and career development
- Employs two learning specialists
- Offers both wired and wireless internet connections
- Recipient of Division I Athletic Director Award of Excellence
- Employs a staff of 10 full-time employees, all with at least a master's degree in counseling or education
- Experience of the staff in academic advising exceeds a combined 45 years
- Employs over 60 tutors, a majority of which have either an undergraduate degree or pursuing an advanced degree.

WestZone

Clemson Athletics' "New Front Door"

Construction of Component I of the WestZone Initiative at Memorial Stadium is ahead of schedule and will be completed for the season opener on September 2 when the Tigers play host to Florida Atlantic. Visually from the field, the area resembled a construction site during the 2005 season, but that will not be the case in 2006.

On opening day this year, Clemson fans will see a completed WestZone Club seating area that will feature over 970 new orange chairback seats, complimented by a common climate-controlled lounge area that will feature specialty food and beverage, television monitors for replays, and other exclusive amenities. The club-level seats are sold out for the 2006 season, and were actually sold out prior to construction.

Fans will also benefit from a concourse walkway that connects the North and South stands. It offers additional restrooms and concession areas, new seating for wheelchair-bound spectators, and other gameday amenities. Additional seats in the "pie" areas to the right and left of the West stands will also be completed. The new scoreboard at the East end of the Stadium, complete with state-of-the-art video replays, is also a feature of Component I, and was operational during the 2005 season.

While fans attending games at Death Valley this season will see these visible enhancements to the stadium, Clemson's student-athletes will enjoy a finished locker room area that is nearly twice the size of the previous locker room area. New wooden lockers, carpeting, and photo montages depicting the Tigers' football heritage are prominently featured in the new locker room. The visiting team's locker room was completed last season as well.

Since the announcement of the WestZone Initiative in 2004, Head Coach Tommy Bowden and his staff have seen a steady improvement in the quality of young men (athletically and academically) who are considering Clemson University. A look to the recruiting rankings of many services is consistent with that feeling.

The WestZone holds over 1,000 fans and has chair-back seats along with other comforts.

"It is not a coincidence that the quality of our recruiting classes has improved dramatically since we began moving dirt and pouring mortar in the West endzone of Memorial Stadium," said Bowden.

"Our fans who follow the program closely see that in the recruiting service rankings, but I see it through personal contact with the quality of young men who are now considering and selecting Clemson. As we continue to build and eventually finish the WestZone Initiative, it will help us reach the championship-quality program we all strive for."

Component II and Component III of the WestZone Initiative will have a further positive effect on Clemson recruiting efforts and the overall quality of the Tiger Athletic Program. Component II will include new offices for the football coaching staff, position-team meeting rooms, a new team meeting room, football administration offices, a player lounge area, an aquatic training facility, a lower concourse entrance area that will include personal plaques of each current Tiger, and a 15,000 square-foot strength training facility.

"The Capital Campaign's original goal was to raise $27 million," said Senior Associate Athletic Director Bill D'Andrea. "To date, we have raised $16.3 million, and I am optimistic we will raise the remaining $10.7 million that will allow us to complete Component II and move our football operations to Memorial Stadium. That is our immediate goal."

Component III will feature a Clemson Museum that will include Clemson's university, military, and athletic history, and a new Lettermen's Lounge.

Based on estimates by an architecture firm and an independent estimator, the cost to complete Component I was predicted to be $30 million when the evaluation took place in 2003. However, due to the construction market climate and the rising costs of materials, Component I cost roughly $40 million when it was completed this summer. Funds for Component I have been raised through private donations,

James Davis on WestZone

"One of the biggest factors I considered when I was looking at schools was the commitment to the football program. The tradition is important, the fan support is important, the coaching staff is important. Facilities are very important and show a commitment you can see every day. Does Clemson want to be a championship program? The WestZone Initiative showed me that it does."

James Davis, 2005 ACC Rookie-of-the-Year

the assistance of IPTAY, existing athletic department funds, and through the issue of state bonds.

Additional funds will be needed to complete Component III, which includes the Clemson Museum and the Lettermen's Area. Former Clemson University President Phil Prince and former Executive Director of IPTAY Joe Turner are the co-chairmen of the WestZone Initiative. The total cost of the three components combined should be approximately $70 million.

"We certainly feel a sense of urgency to complete Component II and Component III," said Athletic Director Dr. Terry Don Phillips. "We have been behind in this area, and we feel the completion of this project will put us ahead when it comes to facilities. But, we are going to make sound decisions from a fiscal standpoint that won't handicap our department and university in the long-term."

The original plans for a new football administration building were developed in 1999 prior to Phillips' appointment as Clemson's athletic director, and called for a separate building constructed near the football practice fields adjacent to the Jervy Athletic Center. Phillips had administered successful projects at other institutions that combined a new football facility with the construction of a club seating area. The WestZone Club will have a positive effect on the cash-flow needed to finance the overall project. Thus, it was a featured aspect of Component I.

The WestZone will bring in revenue to help all of Clemson's athletic programs.

Dr. Phillips is committed to building a model athletic program at Clemson, and he sees seven major areas that need to be addressed in reaching this accomplishment. The WestZone Project addresses five of the seven areas. Specifically, this project will:

- recruit and nurture quality student-athletes;
- attract and retain outstanding coaches and staff;
- give Clemson competitive facilities;
- promote Clemson's school spirit and rich traditions;
- assure sound fiscal accountability.

After the 2003 season, Clemson built a new football locker room in the Jervy Athletic Center and renovated the strength training facility. A new artificial surface practice field was installed and a 53-yard indoor surface was purchased for the Indoor Track Facility for use during inclement weather.

"The renovations we made in 2004 provide our team with a quality environment during the present time, but the new facilities inside the WestZone will be among the best nationally," said Dr. Phillips.

"After meeting with Dr. Phillips on April 25, I have a general understanding of the construction schedule and finances that will be needed to complete the football operations aspect of the WestZone Initiative," said Bowden. "I have the utmost confidence in the people we have leading us in this capital campaign, and know it will be among the best football facilities in the country when it is completed."

The entire 19 sports program will benefit from the WestZone Project, because it will allow Clemson's Olympic sports improved facilities as well. The current football locker room (built in 2004) in the Jervy Athletic Center will be converted into separate locker rooms for Olympic sports. There will be less congestion and less scheduling conflicts in the strength training room at the Jervy Athletic Center. The McFadden Building will give Olympic sports more office space.

"The WestZone Initiative will become the front door to Death Valley and our athletic facilities landscape," said Dr. Phillips. "Facilities aren't the end all, but they are extremely important in the recruiting process. They can put you in position to become successful, both athletically and academically."

In 2006, Clemson signed a football recruiting class that ranked among the top 16 in the nation according to three different services. While there are many factors to consider when a young man is trying to select a university to further his career, it is apparent that facilities are an important aspect.

A new, spacious locker room was added on the ground floor of the WestZone.

One of the country's top heart and vascular teams is right here.

It's one thing to shout "We're number 1!" But we're willing to go on the offense, and stand behind that claim with the statistics. AnMed Health Heart and Vascular Care outperforms all Upstate hospitals in the treatment of heart attack and open heart surgery.

We're ranked in the top 10% of U.S. hospitals for open heart surgeries and treatment of heart attacks by Medicare. And we've earned five (out of five) stars in stroke care from HealthGrades.

We may not shout as loudly as some, but we've got the quality data, the outcomes and the experts to prove our claim. And we invite you to check it out at www.anmedhealth.org. When it comes to your heart and vascular care, we're in this together.

The ACC's Instant Replay at a Glance:

Objective: To allow for specific types of officiating calls to be immediately reviewed & corrected.

Principles: There must be INDISPUTABLE VIDEO EVIDENCE for any on-the-field call to be changed. In addition, a review must have a direct, competitive effect on the game, such as a change of possession, scoring play, etc.

The ACC will be using instant replay for every game during the 2006 season. In addition, the instant replay system is no longer experimental and has been added to the NCAA rule book ensuring that each conference will follow the same guidelines.

Reviewable Plays:

1. Plays governed by sideline, goal line and end line:
 - a) Scoring plays, including a runner breaking the plane of the goal line.
 - b) Pass complete/incomplete/intercepted at sideline, goal line and end line.
 - c) Runner/receiver in or out of bounds.
 - d) Recovery of loose ball in bounds.
 - e) A loose ball touching a sideline, goal line or an end line.
2. Passing Plays:
 - a) Pass ruled complete/incomplete/intercepted anywhere in the field of play and end zones.
 - b) Touching of a forward pass by an ineligible receiver.
 - c) Touching of a forward pass by a defensive player.
 - d) Quarterback (passer) forward pass or fumble (if ruled incomplete, the play is finalized).
 - e) Illegal forward pass or illegal handing beyond the line of scrimmage.
 - f) Illegal forward pass or illegal handing after change of possession.
 - g) Forward or backward pass thrown from behind the line of scrimmage.
3. Miscellaneous Reviewable Plays:
 - a) Runner ruled to have fumbled (if ruled down, the play is not reviewable).
 - b) Forward progress errors with respect to first down.
 - c) Touching of a kick.
 - d) Number of players on field.
 - e) A scrimmage kicker beyond the line of scrimmage when the ball is kicked.
 - f) Clock adjustments.
 - g) Fourth-down/try fumble plays.

Not Reviewable Plays:

1. Holding.
2. Offside/encroachment.
3. Pass interference.
4. Personal fouls (e.g., late hits).
5. Illegal blocks.
6. Illegal formations.
7. Face mask.
8. Taunting/excessive celebration.
9. False starts.
10. Roughing the passer/kicker.
11. Fighting participants.

Coaches Challenge Added to Instant Replay

- The head coach of either team may request that the game be stopped and a play be reviewed by challenging the on-field ruling.
- A coach initiates this challenge by taking a team timeout before the ball is next put in play and informing the referee that he is challenging the ruling of the previous play. The head coach who has challenged the original ruling is not permitted any other challenge during the game.
 - After a review has been completed, if the on-field ruling is reversed, that team's timeout will not be charged.
 - After a review has been completed, the on-field ruling is not reversed, that team's timeout counts as one of the three permitted that team for that half.
 - A head coach may not challenge a ruling in which the game was stopped and a decision has already been made by the Replay Official.
 - If a head coach requests a team timeout to challenge an on-field ruling and the play being challenged is not reviewable, the timeout shall count as one of the three permitted his team during that half of the game. If all team timeouts have been used, a delay penalty will be assessed.
 - A head coach may not challenge an on-field ruling if all the team's timeouts have been used for that half.

Tiger Strength Training

Clemson Football

2006 CLEMSON FOOTBALL

One of the most important facilities on the Clemson athletic landscape is the strength & conditioning facility. Located in Jervy Athletic Center, it has continued to keep up with one of the most progressive areas in college sports. Director of Strength & Conditioning Joey Batson, who is in his 10th year, makes sure Clemson student-athletes in all sports are ready for competition physically.

In the summer of 2004, he oversaw a third major facility enhancement. When he came to Clemson, the facility covered 11,000 square feet. It has continued to grow and now covers nearly 15,000 square feet. It is one of the most modern all-around facilities in the country.

The following improvements were made:

- State-of-the-art sound system
- Eight flat-screen plasma televisions
- State-of-the-art ventilation system
- New lighting system
- 10 new multi-functional Clemson power racks
- Mondo-rubber flooring throughout entire weight room
- New orange upholstery on all weightlifting equipment
- New paint on surrounding walls and columns
- Carpeting in entrances and offices
- Front entrance drop ceiling
- Metal overlay for awards displays
- Reconstruction of entryway walls
- Computerized information display

The plush atmosphere provides an interesting contrast to the physical exertion that takes place within the facility. When a Tiger student-athlete enters the etched-glass doors, he is greeted by nearly $700,000 worth state-of-the-art equipment.

The 10 plasma televisions are positioned throughout the facility and are used for training and instruction, as strength coaches film athletes and work with them on their form.

Clemson has a staff of five full-time strength coaches along with four graduate assistant coaches, and numerous student assistant coaches who ensure a Tiger football player receives as much individual attention as possible. Training programs are position specific, and are designed to meet the specific needs of each student-athlete.

Batson is one of the most highly-regarded strength coaches in the country. In his nine years directing the program, he has coached 12 strength All-Americans. He is a major reason Clemson has

Tiger Band

"The Tiger Band Commitment"

As the Clemson University Tiger Band proudly marches into its second half-century, four former members of the band have spearheaded a major funding campaign to increase scholarships for the purple and orange tiger-striped band.

"Since graduating from Clemson, I have dreamed of establishing scholarships for all Tiger Band members during my lifetime," said Larry Sloan, chairman of the group. "With our Tiger Band Commitment campaign, this is becoming a reality."

The 2005 season was Tiger Band's 50th anniversary, and the four got together to embark on a two-year campaign to raise two-million dollars for the CUTBA Endowment Fund. The Clemson University Tiger Band Association is the band support group founded in 1978.

Debbie Stapleton recalled the "good old days" of Tiger Band back in the early 1970s. "I entered Clemson and Tiger Band as a freshman in the fall of 1971. At this time, band scholarships were the subject of a joke, a sort of freshman initiation. The upperclassmen told all freshmen 'Be sure to go see Dr. John Butler (music department chairman) to get your scholarship!' Of course there were no band scholarships back then.

"The CUTBA Endowment now funds around 10 scholarships, but the number and dollar amount of these scholarships is limited. This campaign can increase both the number and size of scholarships awarded each year, allowing for the recruitment of an increased number of talented young musicians."

"While we will graciously accept cash donations, this campaign is more about friends of the band and former members establishing a legacy for Tiger Band," said Karmen Kingsmore. "We created this Tiger Band Commitment campaign to allow any-

TIGER BAND

SHAKIN' THE SOUTHLAND

THE TIGER BAND

one to pledge funds for Tiger Band in any manner, whether as a beneficiary in a will, an IRA, or on a life insurance policy."

Dr. Mark Spede, Director of Bands, enthusiastically backs this campaign. "It becomes more critical that we attract outstanding band students each year. Although we have much to offer here at Clemson, potential students are often pulled to other universities that can offer more scholarship money. Just as the football program has dedicated itself to improving its facilities through the WestZone project, so must we improve our endowment situation.

"I am very proud of our work the last four years to not only put an outstanding band on the field, but to nurture our students through life skills that only Tiger Band can provide. Please help us to continue to make Tiger Band one of the nation's best, both on the field and off."

Anyone desiring more information on the Tiger Band Commitment can contact the band office at (864) 656-3380, or visit the CUTBA webpage at www.Clemson.edu/Groups/CUTBA.

Tiger Band Kid's Klub

Families with young children are invited to attend the "Tiger Band Kid's Klub" each Friday prior to home games from 5:00 PM to 6:00 PM at the band practice field (corner of Perimeter Road and Cherry Road). Enjoy watching Tiger Band prepare its shows for the following day, and each week get a demonstration from a different section of the band.

Today's Show

At over 240 members this year, Tiger Band will field its largest band in over a decade. The halftime show will feature our brand new "Tiger Dancers" in the music from the Broadway spectacle and recent movie "Rent." This rock opera is a retelling of the Puccini opera "La Boheme," set in 1980's New York. The characters struggle to meet rent while dealing with the scourge of AIDS. Music selections include

Clemson Alma Mater

Where the Tigers play
Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme alway.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might
That the Tigers' roar may echo

Tiger Soccer

2006 Season Preview

By Sam Blackman

Momentum created from Clemson's College Cup run in 2005 and a solid incoming recruiting class should mean another successful season for the Tigers in 2006. The media that follow college soccer feels that way, as Clemson is a top-five national pick in the preseason.

"We topped last year with another strong recruiting year," said Head Coach Trevor Adair. "We feel good about this season. Our expectation is to be right there playing for the ACC Championship. This team is capable of winning the National Championship - that's our goal."

Clemson returns 13 lettermen and seven starters from last year's team that finished 15-6-3 overall, advanced to the Final Four of the College Cup, and had a #3 final national ranking.

"We lost two great defenders in Justin Moore and Nathan Sturgis," said Adair. "Last year, we could build from the back and get the ball forward. If we can shore up the back, we should be in good shape."

The two returning starters in the back are Havird Usry and Alan O'Hara. Usry is a two-year starter, and Alan is a leader and organizer in the back. We have a very good goalkeeper behind them in Phil Marfuggi. Phil was an All-American last year, and he is without a doubt one of the top goalkeepers in the country.

"As far as our attack, we have outstanding speed and scoring ability. David Bell and Dane Richards are the fastest soccer players I have ever coached."

That is quite a statement coming from the Tiger mentor who has been a head coach since 1991.

"We needed experienced players last year in our recruiting class. O'Hara and Richards made major impacts right away. Once Richards got in the swing of things, he carried us. With our good defenders, Justin Moore and Nathan Sturgis, it all came together. We got on track, and I wasn't surprised how far we advanced. Even when we were struggling, I believed we were just as good as any team in the country. It took a while for us to get going last year, but a season is a marathon, not a sprint.

"I was happy with the way the team came together last year. We showed confidence and advanced to the Final Four when we were counted out early in the season. The strength of the ACC helped us prepare for the NCAAs.

"All of the incoming players should have an impact on the season. A major key for us this year will be how quickly the players in the back come together and gel as a unit, and how quickly they sort things out and develop a strong working relationship.

"We have another tough schedule with a lot of road games, but this prepares you for the NCAAs."

Clemson returns senior All-American Phil Marfuggi in goal. Last year, he had an 0.85 goals allowed average and 89 saves. He was incredible in the postseason last year, a big reason Clemson did not allow a goal in the first four games of the NCAA Tournament.

"There is no question that Phil is one of the top keepers in the country," stated Adair. "He was outstanding in 2005. He stayed healthy, and showed his full potential through hard work in the weight room and on the practice field."

Clemson added goalkeeper Joseph Bendik, a 6'2" freshman from Marietta, GA.

"He is already attracting attention from teams in Europe," exclaimed Adair. "He has great presence on the field, and is one of top goalkeepers coming into college this year."

Red-shirt freshman goalkeeper Scott Rossman has made progress, but needs some game action to gain the experience.

Clemson lost two starters in the backfield in Moore and Sturgis, both whom are playing in the MLS. O'Hara, a senior, and Usry, a junior, are back from last season and will lead this area of the team. O'Hara is a two-year starter and started all 24 matches in 2005. Usry started 22 matches last season as well.

"This is the 'question mark'," said Adair. "How do you replace two players who are in the MLS? O'Hara and Usry are our mainstays, and with their experience, we have something to build around. We do have a lot of people working to gain the starting roles."

Freshman Greg Eckhardt, red-shirt freshmen Parker Rogers and David Newton, and senior Micah Usry, also will be vying for starting roles.

"We need this unit to come around quickly," admitted Adair, who enters his 12th season in Tigertown in 2006. "However, we do have some depth to provide competition for the starters. We should have good speed in the back, and we should still be able to build in the back and push up the field."

Clemson should be very solid in the midfield, as it has a solid corps of players returning in sophomore Bryson Moore, junior Mark Buchholz, and senior Hector Quintanar. Quintanar scored five goals last season and started 19 matches. Moore had four goals and four assists, as he started 23 matches.

Goalkeeper Phil Marfuggi was an All-American in 2005. He was also First-Team All-ACC in Clemson's Final Four season.

Moore earned Freshman All-ACC honors last season. Buchholz had five goals and three assists for 13 points as well.

"These players (Moore, Buchholz, Quintanar) are three that have a lot of experience and will very likely start," said Adair. "What we are looking for this year is to be able to spring the forward through. We need someone to stay at home like Bradley Gibson (2005 senior) did, and absorb some of the pressure and not leave the defense exposed. Buchholz is a strong player, and Quintanar keeps the ball moving. Moore has great speed and can score goals."

Clemson added Paulo Bonfim from Sao Paulo, Brazil. According to the coaches, he is a good distributor and will solidify the midfield position. He can also play in the back if needed.

The Tigers should be the deepest in the forward position since Adair took over at Clemson in 1995. Clemson has the leading scorer in 2005 back, as Dane Richards returns for his senior season. Richards had 12 goals and eight assists for 32 points last season. The All-ACC performer started all 24 matches, and was named to the All-College Cup team.

Clemson added Frederico Moojen, a 6'1" senior from Balneario, Brazil, and Bell, a 5'10" junior transfer from Berry.

"A lot will fall on their shoulders," explained Adair. "This group has the ability to score a lot of goals. We haven't had this much depth since I've been here. Richards, Bell, and Moojen are definitely candidates for all-star honors. A lot will be expected of these three players. If we can get on the scoreboard early, we will be hard to beat."

Clemson also added freshman Nathan Thornton, who will be pushing for playing time during his first season. "We expect great things from Nathan," said Adair. "He will be a very good player for Clemson in due time."

Sam Blackman is Clemson's Senior Associate Sports Information Director and is in his 20th year at Clemson.

Lady Tiger Soccer

2006 Season Preview

By Sam Blackman

Getting key players back from injury coupled with a talented group of newcomers has Head Coach Todd Bramble excited about the 2006 season.

Clemson returns 14 letterwinners and seven starters from a 9-9-2 team that advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the 12th consecutive season. The Lady Tigers have been to every NCAA Tournament since the program was started in 1994, one of just six programs in the nation that can make that claim. That includes a streak of five straight NCAA Tournament appearances under Bramble.

Clemson's key losses from last season include four-time All-ACC performer Allison Graham and Lydia Vandenberg, both midfielders. Graham was the top scorer for the Lady Tigers last season with seven goals and nine assists for 23 points, while Vandenberg was fourth on the team in points scored. She was one of five Lady Tigers to start all 20 matches last season.

Clemson had an excellent recruiting year and will welcome 10 newcomers to the program. The coaching staff was very happy with the results of their efforts.

"These young ladies will fit in perfectly here at Clemson," said Bramble. "I can't wait to see the contributions they will make to our soccer program. In a year in which we don't lose a large number of players to graduation, we have managed to attract 10 players that will clearly raise the competitive level of our program. I know they are all excited to join our program, and I am equally as excited to welcome this class."

Clemson has another tough schedule in store for the 2006 season. The team opened the season on August 25, as the Lady Tigers defeated Alabama-Birmingham. After playing at Colorado on September 1 and Denver two days later in Boulder, CO, Clemson will play in the Carolinas' Cup in Greenville, SC on September 9, 11. Clemson will play Furman and Charlotte in the tournament. The Lady Tigers will also play at rival South Carolina on September 15 in Columbia.

Clemson will open the ACC segment of the schedule on September 21 at Maryland, and will travel to Boston College on September 24 on the same road trip. Clemson will play host to perennial power North Carolina on September 28.

In the month of October, Clemson will play host to Francis Marion, Virginia, Wake Forest, and N.C. State. During that same month, Clemson will be on the road at ACC foes Virginia Tech, Miami (FL), Duke, and Florida State. The regular season concludes with the ACC Tournament from November 1-5 in Cary, NC.

Clemson returns junior starter Ashley Phillips in goal. A preseason All-American for 2006 by Soccer America, Phillips started 19 matches for the Lady Tigers and had a 1.37 GAA with 93 saves last season. She earned Second-Team All-ACC honors, and was named first-team All-Southeast by NSCAA.

Phillips, a native of West Peabody, MA, had six shutouts last year to rank among the ACC leaders, and she will be looked upon as one of the team leaders this year. She burst on the Clemson soccer scene as a freshman when she had nine saves in a season-opening 1-0 victory at Texas, then had five saves in a 4-1 win at Texas A&M. She is the only goalkeeper in Clemson women's soccer history to record consecutive road victories over top-10 teams.

The Lady Tigers are experienced and solid on defense, as Clemson returns all four starters in the back, (Amber Funk, Molly Johnson, Kelly Schneider, Britten Meyer). "We have been working hard to make sure we are a strong team defensively," said Bramble. "That is the foundation of any successful team."

Clemson allowed just 26 goals in 20 games a year ago.

Funk, a senior, started 14 matches, while Johnson, a sophomore, started all 20 matches as a freshman, the only freshman who could make that claim last year. Schneider, a senior and a former forward, did an excellent job playing in the back and started all 20 matches last season. She can go forward and score goals as well, as shown by her three goals last year.

Meyer, a senior, is a dependable starter and proved to be a consistent performer for the Lady Tigers last season. Meyer had three goals and four assists last season when she finished third on the team in points scored.

Newcomer Nikki McEachern, from Calgary, Alberta, and red-shirt sophomore Logan Hull will be looking to break into the lineup in the defense.

Clemson was hit hard in the midfield with the graduation of Graham and Vandenberg, and the loss of starter Candice Hein. Sophomore Julie Bolt is the lone starter returning from 2005. Bolt finished the year with one goal from her wide midfield position after playing in all 20 matches, including 14 as a starter.

The return of junior Elizabeth Jobe is certainly a bright spot in the midfield this year. The former Parade All-American started the first six matches last year, but was lost for the season due to a knee injury. Clemson had a 4-1-1 record with Jobe in the lineup, including a victory over South Carolina. She started all 20 matches as a freshman when she made the All-ACC freshman team and was an honorable mention freshman All-American.

Senior forward Courtney Foster has been named All-ACC for three straight seasons.

* - ACC regular-season match; ^ - Colorado Women's Soccer Classic; % - Carolinas' Cup at Greenville, SC; + - Cary, NC; Note: Home matches in bold; all times are PM and Eastern.

Clemson recruited this position with a purpose during the offseason. Newcomers Christy Barrow (Saint Simons Island, GA), Jennifer Ficklen (Fort Mill, SC), Molly Franklin (Frederick, MD), Lindsey Jackson (Raleigh, NC), and Katie Vogel (Marietta, GA) will vie for the available positions this year.

Senior Courtney Foster is Clemson's top returning player up top. She finished her junior season with four goals and four assists for 12 points, second on the team behind Graham's 23 points. She has been named Second-Team All-ACC each of the last three years and is certainly a candidate to move to first-team status in 2006. Foster has 27 career goals and 15 career assists, high marks among active Lady Tigers in both categories.

Fraser Gerth is another returnee who played in 18 matches in 2005, all as a reserve, and had one goal and one assist for three points.

Newcomers Lily Boleyn (Ellicott City, MD) and Danielle Schmitt (Fort Mill, SC), along with transfers Meghan Smith (Centennial, CO) and Nuria Zufia (Pamplona, Spain) will compete for playing time up front.

Smith is a transfer from Iowa State who had success against strong teams from Oklahoma and Oklahoma State in the Big 12. Zufia was a starter for the Under-20 National Team of Spain in the recent Youth World Games in Thailand.

"While we will need the early part of the season to answer some questions with our new players, we certainly have the talent and depth in place to become a very good team," concluded Bramble. "The challenge for the coaching staff will be to figure out how to best utilize the different skills the newcomers bring within our system. The challenge then for the players is how quickly they can work to learn about all of our new personalities and develop great team chemistry.

"I do know our seniors have reported back to campus with a sense of urgency and determination that they want to make this a special season."

Sam Blackman is Clemson's Senior Associate Sports Information Director and is in his 20th year at Clemson.

The 2006 Clemson volleyball team will have a similar, yet fresh appearance. The team will look familiar on the court, as five starters and libero Anna Vallinch return, but the view on the sidelines will differ with first-year Assistant Coaches Jing (Jason) Hou and Korinn Krog instructing alongside 14th-year Head Coach Jolene Jordan Hoover.

The Tigers began the season at the Mortar Board Premier tournament hosted by Purdue on August 25, 26. Bradley and Northern Iowa, a 20-match winner from 2005, completed the four-team field. The Boilermakers are one of four NCAA Tournament teams on Clemson's schedule in 2006.

Clemson began its home schedule with the Big Orange Bash from August 31 to September 2. This year's event proved to be a spirited tournament with in-state rival South Carolina making its first appearance. The two teams kicked off the Big Orange Bash in a highlighted Thursday matchup. Also included in the tournament were Charlotte, Tennessee State, and Western Carolina.

The 2006 season marks the second year of the home-and-home, 22-match ACC schedule without a conference tourney. Clemson will open ACC play on September 22 against Duke in Durham, NC.

The Tigers return one of the best duos in the ACC on the outside in 2005 ACC Second-Team honoree Brittany Ross, and AVCA East Region and ACC Freshman-of-the-Year Jeannette Abbott. Both have also earned preseason All-ACC honors.

"Brittany will be an important piece of our offense, while Jeannette is coming off of a nice freshman debut," Hoover said. "These two will see a lot of swings throughout the season."

Ross also earned AVCA East Region honorable mention last season after tallying a team-best 525 kills while hitting .248. The junior from Sunrise, FL ranks second in the Clemson recordbooks with a 4.14 kills-per-game average and became just the 11th player in school history to join the 20-20 club.

Abbott returns after one of the most prolific rookie campaigns in school history. The Downers Grove, IL native started all 30 matches in 2005 while becoming the fifth Tiger to earn ACC Freshman-of-the-Year honors and the second to be named region freshman-of-the-year. She set the Tiger record for kills in a season (515) by a freshman, bettering Ross' mark of 472 from 2004.

Four players will vie for the two starting middle blocker spots, including junior Meghan Steiner, sophomores Danielle Hepburn and Laura Boozer, and freshman Lia Proctor.

Hepburn enters the 2006 season as the starting middle blocker after earning the job in all 30 matches last year. She demolished the record for blocks by a freshman, recording 143 to better the previous mark by 34 blocks.

"Danielle had a great freshman year, and will keep getting stronger and more confident," Hoover said. "She read the opponents' offense very well last year."

Steiner's two seasons at Clemson have been plagued by injuries, but she has been productive when on the court. Last year, she started 18 matches and had 145 kills. She was also second on the team with 83 total blocks despite missing 10 matches.

With Steiner sidelined last season, Boozer earned significant playing time at the middle position. She tallied 94 kills in 61 games while recording a team-high .270 hitting percentage.

"When Laura stepped in for Meg, she got better with each match she played," said Hoover. "Laura is an important player for our team. She has the ability to play all three positions at the net, so she can contribute in many ways."

Proctor comes to Clemson from Inman, SC, where she excelled as a multi-sport athlete at Dorman High. She helped the Cavaliers capture three state volleyball and basketball titles.

"We also added a talented freshman in in-state standout Lia Proctor," Hoover said. "I believe that she will elevate her level within the first few weeks of practice, being able to be in this environment."

Junior Leslie Mansfield returns on the right side. Last year, she displayed her versatility and willingness to help her team by handling the setting responsibilities while Clemson's primary and backup setters were injured. She had 210 set assists for the year. The 2006 season should find her back in her more natural position on the right side.

"Leslie had shoulder surgery last August and was never at full strength," said Hoover. "She is back at full strength and working hard on her game."

Clemson's primary and backup setters both return, as Courtney Lawrence enters her third year with the program and Dawn Robertson begins her senior season. Hoover is also eager about the addition of freshman setter Kelsey Murphy.

The lefthanded Lawrence already is eighth in the Clemson annuals with 1,861 set assists. Her average of 8.86 assists per game is also fourth-best in program history. In 2005, she was just three assists shy of 1,000 for the season and led the Tigers with 31 service aces. Robertson participated in 87 games last year and recorded 235 set assists, while also tallying 15 service aces.

Murphy, a 6'0" freshman from New Lenox, IL, will also vie for the setting position. She played at Providence Catholic High, the same school that produced former Tigers Megan McEnery and Jodi Steffes. Murphy is also related to former Tiger Jenny Yurkanin, a setter from 1987-90.

"Kelsey is very talented and gives us another dimension at the setter position," said Hoover.

Brittany Ross (left) and Jeannette Abbott (right) were both named to the 2006 Preseason All-ACC team. The two combined for 1,040 kills last season.

Vallinch, a senior, leads a deep and talented backcourt. Vallinch has been the starting libero for the past two years, while junior Sue Eckman, a veteran of 231 games, and sophomore Katie Bridges, who saw limited action last year, will be back. Clemson welcomes international standout Idem Ege along with walk-on Hillary Douglas as well.

Vallinch holds the Tiger record for defensive saves per game (4.82) and has a chance to set the school record for total defensive saves over a career. After tallying 620 in 2004 and 541 in 2005, she needs just 363 this season to claim the record.

"Anna returns at the libero, a position that has become invaluable," she said. "How we handle that first ball contact decides what we can do offensively. Anna is very solid and consistent."

Eckman started 14 matches and played in all 118 games last season. She totaled 229 defensive saves in 2005, while also serving 24 aces. Bridges played in just one game last season.

Ege, an Istanbul, Turkey native, is an exciting addition, as she has played on the Turkish Junior National Team the past two years.

"Idem has a pretty impressive resumé," Hoover said. "Having someone with international experience and someone who has competed at a high level will be a huge asset to our team."

Douglas lettered three seasons at Saint Thomas Aquinas High School in Miami, FL, and attended the Junior Olympics in 2005 and 2006 with the Boomers club team.

Christine Long is an Assistant Sports Information Director in her second year at that position at Clemson. She previously worked as a student assistant at Clemson for three years.

2006 CLEMSON FOOTBALL

Shandy Bryan

Basketball • 1989-93

Shandy Bryan was an outstanding basketball player from Morristown, TN. But instead of finding success in Tennessee like so many other women's basketball players, Bryan brought success to Clemson. During her career with the Tigers from 1989-93, she was a starter on four teams that reached the NCAA Tournament. Every one of the teams won at least one game once they reached the "big dance."

Bryan had an impact on the Lady Tiger program from her freshman year through her senior year. In 1989-90, she scored a team-best 19 points to lead the Lady Tigers to an NCAA Tournament win at Connecticut. That is one of just two NCAA Tournament losses in history for the Huskies on their home court.

In 1990-91, her sophomore year, Clemson advanced to the Elite Eight, the best finish in program history. In her junior season, she helped the Lady Tigers to 21 wins and a final #19 national ranking.

During her senior year, Bryan averaged 18.7 points per game, grabbed 8.6 rebounds a contest, shot 54.5 percent from the field, and 74 percent from the free-throw line. Her final season also featured her selection to the second-team All-America squad by the American Women's Sports Federation.

Along with the gaudy numbers that accompany her career, one must stop and realize that Bryan did all the little things to help her teams win as well. She was not just the top scorer on the team her senior year, she also posted career highs in blocks (28), steals (50), and assists (29). She started all 30 games her last year, and 89 in her career. She finished her four years at Clemson with a 49.8-percent shooting mark from the field.

All in all, Bryan tallied some of the highest totals ever by a Lady Tiger in four different categories. She remains fourth in total points (1,631) behind only Barbara Kennedy-Dixon, Chrissy Floyd, and Janet Knight. She is also third in rebounds (874), fourth in field goals (661), and fifth in free throws made (309). She was named ACC Player-of-the-Week four times, the most by any Lady Tiger basketball player.

In the NCAA Tourney, Bryan was no stranger to the recordbooks either. To this day, she holds the Clemson NCAA Tournament individual career records for points (140), field goals (53), field-goal attempts (104), free throws (24), and rebounds (71).

Her success has not stopped since her playing days. In 2004, she was named teacher-of-the-year in her school district in Conyers, GA. She also earned a doctorate degree in curriculum & instruction in 2005.

Jonathan Byrd

Golf • 1997-00

Jonathan Byrd is a man of firsts among Clemson golfers. Starting with his rookie year in 1996-97, he was the first golfer in Tiger history to be named First-Team All-ACC as a freshman. During his career at Clemson from 1997-00, he became the first Tiger in 22 years to be a starter on four Clemson top-10 teams. He was also the first Tiger student-athlete in any sport in 11 years to start on three ACC Championship teams. In his final two years at Clemson, Byrd was named IPTAY Athlete-of-the-Year, the first Tiger student-athlete to win the award in consecutive seasons.

In his junior year (1998-99), Byrd earned first-team All-America honors for his stellar play. During that season, Byrd posted his best finish at the NCAA Championships, where he came in 16th. He also topped the field at The Ridges Intercollegiate in the fall to take medalist honors.

However, it was not just his performance on the course where he excelled. In his junior year, he started his run as the first student-athlete in Clemson history to be named a first-team academic All-American and on-the-field All-American, twice. Byrd had an outstanding following summer, culminating with his selection as the amateur golfer-of-the-year in the state by the South Carolina Golf Association.

The following season (1999-00) as a senior, he earned third-team All-America honors, and was named First-Team All-ACC for the fourth straight year. He became the first four-time, First-Team All-ACC golfer in Clemson history, quite an accomplishment when one considers the sports tradition. When Byrd left Clemson, he held the school records for total rounds under par, and rounds at par or better.

As an amateur, Byrd represented the United States in the 1999 Palmer Cup and 1999 Walker Cup. He was just the third player in school history to be chosen to the United States Walker Cup team. In the 1999 Palmer Cup, Byrd went 4-0 to lead the U.S. to a 17.5-6.5 thumping of the Europeans.

Before joining the PGA Tour, Byrd made 20 starts on the Nationwide Tour in 2001. He won the 2001 Buy.com (now Nationwide) Charity Pro-Am at The Cliffs in nearby Travelers Rest, SC with a record 18-under-par score. That victory gave him status for the remainder of the year, and basically jumpstarted his professional career.

His final top-20 ranking on the Buy.com Tour earned him his PGA Tour card in 2002, and he made the most of the opportunity. During his rookie campaign, he recorded one of his two career wins at the Buick Challenge. There, he shot a final-round 63 and finished 27 strokes under par for a three-stroke win. The victory propelled Byrd to be honored with the PGA Rookie-of-the-Year award.

Byrd is now in his fifth year on the tour, and has also won at the B.C. Open in 2004 in Endicott, NY. In 2003, he finished eighth at the Masters and was 15th at the U.S. Open. Both finishes were the best by a former Clemson golfer at those tournaments. He recently finished 20th at the PGA Championship at Medinah.

In 2002, Byrd was named to the ACC 50-Year Anniversary team. He was one of 12 Tiger golfers to be named to the team.

Byrd graduated from Clemson in May of 2000. He lives with his wife Amanda and their recently-born son in Sea Island, GA.

Wayne Coffman

Women's Track & Field Coach • 1985-97

During his tenure at Clemson, Wayne Coffman has run the gamut of positions. He first came to Clemson as a student-athlete in 1978, participating in cross country and track.

He then moved on to coaching, serving as a graduate assistant at Clemson, and eventually became the head coach of the women's cross country and track teams. After retiring in 1998 from coaching, Coffman was offered a position as an academic advisor, and now works at Vickery Hall.

As an athlete, Coffman was named to the All-ACC indoor track team in 1979, and All-ACC outdoor team in 1979 and 1980 in the 10,000m. In 1979, he was the anchor of the distance medley relay championship team. He was an All-ACC performer three times, the Clemson MVP (1980), and helped bring home the first-ever ACC Championship for the Clemson cross country team in 1978. This would not be the last time that he would bring home titles to Clemson.

After becoming head coach in 1985, Coffman took over a track and cross country program that had never won an ACC title. He quickly changed that, as the cross country team won the ACC title in his second year. Through the first seven years of his tenure, the cross country team never finished outside of the top three in the ACC. Its best finish at the NCAA Championships was third in 1989-90. By winning the championship in his second year, he became one of two men in Clemson athletics history to earn All-ACC honors as a student-athlete, and lead Clemson to an ACC Championship as a head coach. Current Clemson golf Head Coach Larry Penley is the other.

If that was not enough, Coffman turned his attention to the track programs as well. His big season as the outdoor coach came in 1990-91. Turning the team from strictly a distance program, his first class of freshmen led this team to an ACC title as seniors. This was the year he brought his second ACC title as a coach to Clemson. By far his best team, it went on to finish 12th at the NCAA Championships. Proving he was not a one-season wonder, Coffman's outdoor track teams strung together a run of five-straight, top-three finishes at the ACC Championships. He also led Clemson to the indoor ACC title in 1992.

As a coach from 1985-97, Coffman coached 88 ACC champions, 56 All-Americans, and three NCAA champions, including Tina Krebs, who won a national championship on three different occasions. Krebs is the only women's track athlete in the Clemson Ring of Honor.

He also had an incredible graduation rate as a coach. Of the 97 female track athletes that he coached, 94 graduated. Coffman was recognized as the ACC Coach-of-the-Year five times during his career, and was named the Region III Coach-of-the-Year three times.

Coffman became an academic advisor in Vickery Hall in 1997. He currently works with the football and golf student-athletes, and is in his 25th year with the university. He graduated from Clemson in 1981 with a degree in business administration. He lives with his wife Miriam, son Chandler, and daughter Chelcee.

Terrance Herrington
Track & Field • 1985-89

"One of the greatest middle-distance runners in Clemson history." That quote about Terrance Herrington came from Bob Pollock, who has been head coach of the Clemson men's track and cross country teams for the last 18 seasons. Such a statement is difficult to make, but let's go through Herrington's exceptional career on the track to prove his point.

Terrance Herrington

Herrington ran at Clemson from 1985-89 and left his fair share of footprints on the NCAA and Clemson recordbooks. He was a four-time NCAA All-American, earning three such honors in outdoor track and one indoors. In 1987, he placed third in the 1500m at the NCAA outdoor meet. In 1989, Herrington again took the bronze in the 1500m. Showing his versatility at the 1988 outdoor championships, he moved down to the 800m and claimed fourth place.

Although he was only named an All-American once at the indoor meet, it was a golden performance. The Tiger 4x800m relay finished with a final time of 7:17.45, breaking the world record of 7:17.70 held by the 1971 Soviet national team. This was the first-ever event national championship in track & field in school history.

When the spotlight was on, Herrington responded like a champion. He became a five-time ACC titleholder in both indoor and outdoor track. In 1987, he won the outdoor 800m and 1500m, and in 1989 won the 1500m again. On the indoor surface, he claimed ACC gold in the 800m in 1988 and the 1500m a year later. Also in the 1989 season, both the indoor and outdoor track teams won the ACC team titles.

Over his career, Herrington was recognized by the ACC numerous times. He was an All-ACC honoree for indoor track in 1987 and 1989 in the 1000m and 800m, respectively. Outdoors, he earned the honors in 1988 for the 1500m, and in 1989 for the 800m. He was also selected by the ACC coaches committee for outstanding achievement.

Herrington did not stop once he left Clemson. He became a monster in the mile for other runners. In 1989 and 1991, Herrington was the USA national champion in the 1500m. He followed that up by representing the United States in the 1500m during the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, Spain.

Hailing from Hartsville, SC, Herrington was a star in the making when he came to Clemson. In his high school days, he held the South Carolina records in the two-mile and mile runs. Blessed with the rare combination of raw talent and a tremendous work ethic, he eventually became team captain for the Tigers, and led them to an indoor and outdoor ACC title in 1989.

In 2002, Herrington was named to the ACC's 50-Year Anniversary indoor and outdoor teams, one of only six Clemson athletes to be selected to both teams.

Steve Kenney
Football • 1976-78

Character and integrity. These are two attributes that any coach looks for in a player. These are also the two attributes that Steve Kenney brought to the Clemson team in the mid-1970s, and to the Philadelphia Eagles and Detroit Lions of the NFL in the 1980s.

Well liked and respected by his teammates, Kenney was a three-year starter at left offensive guard for the Tigers. Both the 1977 and 1978 teams that he played on finished in the top 20 nationally. His standout season came in 1978. In that year, Kenney was named to the All-ACC team, and the Tigers finished #6 in the polls after posting an 11-1 record.

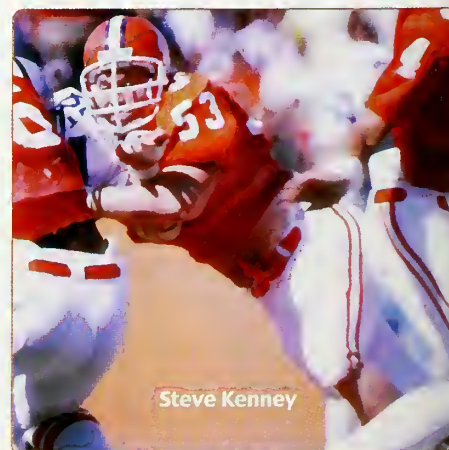

Kenney was one of the many seniors on the 1978 squad who spearheaded the turnaround in Clemson's football fortunes. Between 1960 and 1976, Clemson did not play in a bowl game and never won more than seven games. But Kenney and many others, combined with a solid coaching staff, brought Clemson back to prominence on the gridiron.

The native of Raleigh, NC continued this winning attitude at the National Football League level and had one of the top careers among former Tiger offensive linemen. The bulk of Kenney's success came in the NFL when he played for the Eagles and Lions.

Kenney played for the Eagles for seven seasons before moving on to the Detroit Lions in 1985. A starter with the Eagles in just his second season in the league, his team went to the Super Bowl before dropping a close decision to the Oakland Raiders.

Kenney started 15 games that season, and was a key part of the line that protected Ron Jaworski. Always dependable, Kenney started all 16 games during the 1983 and 1985 seasons. He made such an impression on the tough Philadelphia fans that they named him to the Eagles' All-Decade team for the 1980s. In his second year with the Lions, Kenney injured his back, which led to his retirement from football.

Growing up in North Carolina, Kenney wished to follow in his father's footsteps and play for the North Carolina Tar Heels. His father played for North Carolina as an end during the 1950s. However, he was not highly recruited by the Tar Heels, and their loss became Clemson's gain.

In high school, Kenney was a linebacker for Head Coach Raleigh Sanderson. He was named first-team All-Metro and first-team All-East. He played in the Shrine Bowl, and as a senior was named an All-American by Coach & Athlete magazine.

Kenney returned home to Raleigh, NC after his playing days. He linked with former Clemson teammate and offensive lineman Joe Bostic, and they are currently business partners in the real-estate industry.

Dr. Robert Poole President • 1940-58

Dr. Robert Poole will forever be immortalized by Tiger fans as the school president who kept the legendary Frank Howard as the head coach of the football team after a trying 1947 season. Not a bad decision since Clemson had a perfect season the next year. But Poole made other, more notable changes and decisions in his days as school president.

Destined to come to Clemson, Poole was born the same year (1889) that Clemson was founded. As an undergraduate, he attended Clemson, and was a starting offensive lineman on the football team in 1915 and 1916. During those two years, Poole started in 15 of the 17 games that Clemson played. He earned a varsity letter each season, and later became the first of two future Clemson presidents (current President Jim Barker is the other) to earn a letter at Clemson as an undergraduate student-athlete.

After graduating from Clemson in 1916 with a degree in botany, Poole moved on to Rutgers, where he pursued a master's degree. While in New Jersey, he served as a research assistant in plant pathology.

But Poole's path was interrupted. The United States entered World War I in 1917, and he entered the United States War school in November of that year to study aerial photography. After returning to Rutgers, he combined his expertise in plant pathology with photography. He went on to discover and perfect economical control measures for plant diseases, and received international fame as a plant pathologist.

ogy with photography. He went on to discover and perfect economical control measures for plant diseases, and received international fame as a plant pathologist.

As Clemson president, Poole matched his toughness on the gridiron with incredible foresight. After taking office in 1940, he quickly made arrangements to improve the school's facilities. One of his first tasks was to oversee the construction of Memorial Stadium. This project was completed in time for the 1942 season, just two years after Poole took office.

Despite outside pressures to relieve Howard, Poole showed his excellent judgment by keeping Howard around as head coach. Howard went on to coach the Tigers to two unbeaten seasons (1948,50) and led Clemson to the 15th-best winning percentage in all of college football in the 1950s. Clemson recorded a school-record 165 victories under Howard before he retired in 1969. He was inducted into the National College Football Hall of Fame in 1989.

It was not all smooth sailing in office for Poole, however. He was in office during World War II in the 1940s. Poole's assertive leadership was the key reason that Clemson College trailed only the service academy of Texas A&M in terms of producing Army officers.

In 1953, still as president, Poole was instrumental in helping Clemson join the ACC. He was also there to oversee the change to admit women to Clemson. Poole died in office in 1958 after 18 years as president.

Poole's legacy was also solidified from an athletic department standpoint in 1971, when the football awards for the offensive and defensive most valuable player were named in his honor.

Kyle Young Football • 1998-01

Everybody saw Woodrow Dantzler run over, around, and through opposing defenses in 2000 and 2001. What one might not have seen was the crushing blocks from center Kyle Young that sprung Dantzler for all those yards and records. Offensive linemen have a history of doing all the dirty work and receiving none of the credit.

But Young changed much of that impression through his success on the field and in the classroom.

Growing up in Clemson less than a mile from Memorial Stadium, Young was no stranger to Tiger football. At a young age, he watched old tapes of Clemson-South Carolina games, dreaming that one day he would run down the Hill in front of 80,000 fans.

At D.W. Daniel High School in nearby Central, SC, Young made it impossible for the Clemson coaches to overlook him. In 1996, he was named Mr. Football for the state of South Carolina, quite an accomplishment and a rare feat for an offensive lineman.

Now he is on his way to the Clemson Hall of Fame, and will always be remembered as one of the best.

It is hard to ignore the list of accomplishments that Young has on his resumé. In the 2000 season, Clemson averaged 432 yards of total offense per game, the most in school history. Young compiled 120 knockdown blocks that year as a junior, helping the Tigers to a 9-3 record and a top-15 final national ranking.

For his work that year, Young earned All-America honors on the field. He was also named a finalist for the Dave Rimington Award, which is given to the top center in college football. Wanting to excel at all parts of his game, he was also recognized by winning the Team Dedication Award in the weight room.

Following his outstanding junior year, Young had a lot of expectations to live up to. He took it in stride though, and repeated as an All-American in 2001. He recorded 168 knockdown blocks that year, an all-time school record, and was once again named a finalist for the Dave Rimington Award. He was a starter on three bowl teams (1999,00,01), but more importantly finished his career 3-1 against South Carolina.

Not to be outdone with his performance on the field, Young was the epitome of a student-athlete off the field. He is just one of three Tigers in school history to be named an academic All-American and an on-the-field All-American in the same year, twice. He was a three-time, first-team Academic All-American, one of just two offensive linemen in college football history to do that (Jim Hansen of Colorado is the other). In 2001, Young was the recipient of the ACC's Jim Tatum Award, which is given to the conference's top student-athlete among football players.

In his career, Young posted a 3.97 GPA before graduating in 2001. That year, he was the winner of a National Football Foundation Scholarship. He was the first Tiger to win that prestigious award in 23 years.

After graduating in secondary education, Young again found himself in Clemson. He completed his master's program in 2003, and is currently an administrator with the Clemson Athletic Department. With this list of accomplishments, it is easy to see why he is just the fourth member of the Clemson Hall of Fame to be elected in his first year of eligibility.

Summaries written by Mark Henly, a second-year graduate student from Denver, PA.

The Last Word

Walter Cox

By Tim Bourret

Clemson lost a true legend this past June 28 when Walter Cox passed away at the age of 87. It seems we have been saying that a little too often lately. In 1996, legendary Head Coach Frank Howard passed away, followed four years later by longtime sports information director and Ring of Honor inductee Bob Bradley. Jim Phillips was taken from us suddenly in September of 2003, and Banks McFadden passed on in the summer of 2005.

While Cox may not be at the forefront of Clemson fans from an athletic standpoint as these other four, he certainly was most prominent in Clemson University history when it came to all-around service.

Current Clemson President Jim Barker put that in proper perspective in a letter to the Clemson faculty and staff shortly after "Dean" Cox's death.

"The word 'legend' is often used too lightly, but every now and then a man comes along for whom such words are not descriptive enough. Walter Cox was such a man. With the death of the former student, coach, administrator, and president who will always be known simply as 'Dean Cox,' Clemson lost one of its greatest treasures. Walter Cox personified one of Clemson's core values...the students come first."

Barker went on to document how Cox helped him when he became president, especially during times of difficult decisions early in his presidency.

With the exception of former Clemson President Dr. Robert C. Edwards, I am hard pressed to think of someone who had more of a profound effect on Clemson for such a long, varied, continuous term of service.

Cox came to Clemson from Belton, SC as a freshman in 1935 and served Clemson with distinction until his death last summer. That is over 70 years as a true "Clemson Man."

Cox was a member of the Tiger football team during his undergraduate days and was the starting right guard on the 1939 team that defeated Boston

Walter "Dean" Cox served many roles, including school president, in his 70 years of loyal service to Clemson University.

College in the Cotton Bowl, Clemson's first-ever bowl appearance and first-ever win over a ranked opponent. He was an important cog on Clemson's most important team between 1904 and 1947.

Whenever I talk with a Clemson player thinking about red-shirting, I tell him that every student-athlete I have ever known has benefited by the process. In the modern era of college football (since 1936), Cox was perhaps the first to red-shirt, as he missed the 1936 season due to injury. Had he not red-shirted and returned for a fifth year, he never would have experienced that 1939 season.

Howard was impressed with Cox's knowledge of the game and hired him as an offensive line coach on his first staff in 1940. That would never happen today. Current Tight Ends Coach Billy Napier's ascension to a full-time coaching position at age 26 is about the closest we have to Cox's appointment as a full-time coach the season after he finished playing.

With the exception of a year of military service in 1942, Cox served as Clemson's offensive line coach through the 1950 season. He was the line coach on two of the Tigers' greatest teams, the 1948 and 1950 undefeated squads that ranked in the final national top 10 in the nation.

The play of the lines was a big reason Clemson was second in the nation in scoring defense in 1948 and eighth in the nation in rushing offense in 1950. Remember, players went both ways in 1948, and so did the coaches. Clemson's overall record during his football coaching tenure was 57-32-5.

These were simpler times, but the range of duties makes you scratch your head. In 1940 and 1941, he was directly involved in the clearing of the land for Memorial Stadium. Talk about being at the grass roots of a tradition.

In addition to his duties as line coach, he also served as the football ticket manager. Cox must have been a master when it came to time management. He was also the head baseball coach in 1945 and 1948-51, leading the team to an outstanding 68-46-1 record. The 1950 team was state champions and advanced to the NCAA Tournament. His 1951 team won the Southern Division of the Southern Conference.

Cox got out of the coaching business and moved into university administration in September of 1951. His first task was to serve Clemson as director of public relations and alumni affairs, a post he held until 1955.

The re-organization of the Clemson administration in 1955 led to the establishment of the office of student affairs. Cox was chosen to be the new dean, and was charged with overseeing the total student program of the then 2,700 Clemson students. He reported directly to then President Robert F. Poole (who will be inducted into the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame today), and actually oversaw the athletic department, meaning he was technically Howard's boss.

Cox remained in this post for three decades, as the school transitioned from military to civilian status, admitted women, and in January of 1963 desegregated.

The later change was certainly landmark in the school's history, but thanks to Edwards and Cox, the move to desegregation was executed in an efficient manner and without incident.

As Bradley wrote in an article on Cox in the 1960s, "It is almost beyond comprehension to digest all of the details and safeguards taken for Harvey Gantt's entrance into Clemson. The office of student affairs played a vital role in the smooth matriculation, registration, and assignment of Gantt to his new environment. Words of praise continue to reach Walter Cox's office today on the manner in which Gantt's acceptance was handled."

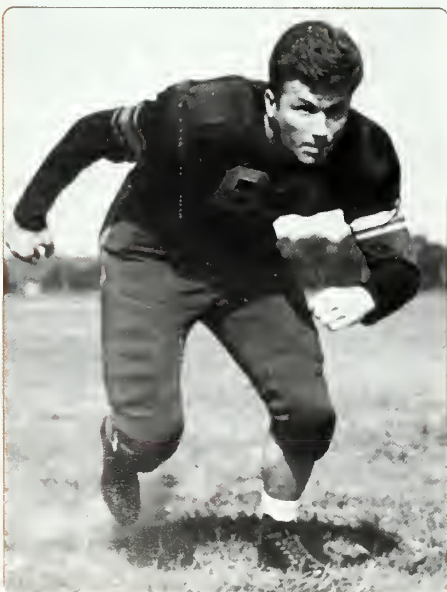

Further proving his all-around expertise and contributions to Clemson, Cox served as the school's 10th president from July 1985 through March of 1986. He then filled the position of vice-president for institutional advancement from July of 1986 through March of 1987. He retired a month later, but continued to be a goodwill ambassador and advisor to many until the day he died.

Cox was inducted into the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame in 1984 for his contributions as an athlete, a coach, and a university administrator. In 1998, the Walter T. Cox Plaza was dedicated on campus at Bowman Field, and the Walter T. Cox Boulevard on Route 93 near campus was named in his honor in 2002.

While those honors were noteworthy and he accepted them with gratitude, his greatest honor probably came in his ability to help countless Clemson students for 70 years.

President Barker summed it up in his June 30, 2006 letter. "Thousands of words will be written about his life, by authors far more skilled than I. Leaders of government, industry, and academia will offer tributes. The most meaningful will come from the thousands of former Clemson students - Jim Barker among them - who will simply say, 'He changed my life'."

Tim Bourret is Clemson's Sports Information Director and is in his 29th year at Clemson.

As a fifth year senior, Walter Cox was the starting right guard on the Tigers' 1939 team that played in the Cotton Bowl.

History of IPTAY

2006 CLEMSON FOOTBALL

The IPTAY Scholarship Foundation, founded in 1934, was the first scholarship fund-raising organization in college athletics. Its roots trace back to October 16, 1931, following a surprising 6-0 football loss to The Citadel. After the game, Captains Frank J. Jervey, Pete Heffner, Head Coach Jess Neely and Assistant Coach Joe Davis met in a car outside the stadium in Florence, SC to discuss various ways Clemson could establish its football program to a competitive status.

Shortly after the meeting, Dr. Rupert Fike offered his help after corresponding with Captain Jervey. Coach Neely believed he could run a successful football team if he was provided a $10,000 a year increase in scholarships. Initially, Captain Jervey originally called for members to pay $30 per year, but Dr. Fike recommended a smaller dollar amount, which he believed would lead to more members. Dr. Fike charged 100 people to step forward and pay $10 a year to the organization, which is where the name IPTAY originated from - I Pay Ten A Year. The purpose of IPTAY is "to provide annual financial scholarship support to the athletic department and to assist in every way possible to regain the high athletic prestige which rightfully belongs to Clemson".

In 1934, the first year of IPTAY, a little over $1,600 was raised by the organization. Some donors negotiated payments in the form of bartering because of the Great Depression. Milk, sweet potatoes, turnip greens and other goods were accepted in an attempt to build a solid membership base. However, the hard work of Dr. Fike and his colleagues began to pay off in 1939 as the Tigers went to their first bowl game, the 1940 Cotton Bowl, where they defeated Boston College 6-3, and finished the season in the Associated Press's Top-25 poll for the first time in school history. Coincidentally, IPTAY reached Coach Neely's $10,000 goal for the first time in 1939.

IPTAY has over 22,500 donors including 16,500 IPTAY members as well as over 6,000 Cubs, Collegiate Club members who continue Dr. Fike's mission of providing annual scholarships for Clemson's student-athletes, paying the operating expenses of IPTAY and maintaining an adequate reserve fund deemed appropriate by the IPTAY Board of Directors. Our donors' contributions ensure all 19 varsity sports annually obtain the maximum amount of scholarships offered by the NCAA.

Even though the mission of IPTAY set forth in 1934 remains the same, its scope has grown tremendously over the years. IPTAY not only provides annual athletic scholarships, but has also provided over 1,600 academic scholarships and raised over $3.5 million through the IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment, which was established in 1982. IPTAY has been the key in building and maintaining the outstanding facilities essential for Clemson to remain one of the top intercollegiate programs in the country. IPTAY has played a critical role in various construction projects and renovations throughout the athletic department. In addition to fulfilling the mission of raising funds for scholarships IPTAY has played a vital role in providing a wide variety of amenities enjoyed by all students.

IPTAY is considered by many to be the father of athletic fund-raising. It was the first organization in the nation to build and fund an academic support facility built solely for educational support of student-athletes. Vickery Hall, opened its doors to Clemson's student-athletes in 1991 and has established itself as a nationally recognized program for student-athlete support. The IPTAY Collegiate Club was started in 1997 solely designed for the college student as a scion of the IPTAY organization. The IPTAY Representative program went on-line in July, 2004 with IPTAYreps.com, which allows representatives to electronically keep track of the donors they represent.

Operating under the guidance of its Board of Directors and the leadership of the athletic department's external affairs division, IPTAY continuously receives the annual support of our donors. Some changes in recent years include the addition of the Tiger Cub Club, CATS (Clemson Active Teen Support) and the Collegiate Club, an update in its database technology, and the addition in IPTAY '07 of two new levels to IPTAY membership, the Howard ($2,100) and the McFadden ($5,600) levels of giving.

IPTAY introduced the endowment of positions program under former Executive Director, George Bennett. IPTAY implemented the endowment of positions program in April, 1994 at the 85th birthday celebration for Coach Frank Howard. The first endowment honored Coach Howard, who coached at Clemson for 39 years and established much of Clemson football's storied tradition.

donation level IPTAY has to offer. Bert Henderson, Executive Director of IPTAY, set a goal to re-create Rupert Fike's 1934 vision of having 100 people contribute forward giving $10 annually. The 100 charter member goal for the $10,000 donation level was not reached, but surpassed, thanks to the generous support of our donors.

Today the mission of IPTAY continues its traditions established over 70 years ago to provide annual scholarships for Clemson's student-athletes. Under the Department of External Affairs, IPTAY will expand its organizational service to move toward a broad scope of full-service. This will include capital improvements, marketing plans, estate planning, and increasing our membership through our IPTAY Representative program.
